The Nude In Canadian Painting:

Bodies of Anxiety Devon Smither, 2016 Bodies of Anxiety The Female Nude in Modern Canadian Art 1913-1945 Doctor of Philosophy 2016 Devon Smither Department of Art University of Toronto Often censored and much debated the female nude in Canadian art has held a contentious position since the early twentieth century In 1927 Canadian artist John W Russell was driven to return to Paris following public outcry over his nude paintings In 1931 Bertram Brooker's Figures in Landscape was removed from an Ontario Society of Artists exhibition at the Art Gallery of Toronto and in 1933 Lilius Torrance Newton's painting Nude was deemed too immodest and censored from a Canadian Group of Painters show The nude garnered moral criticism from conservatives yet according to critics and artists it remained central to the development of modern art in Canada While the nude in Europe has been the subject of both theoretical and historical studies there exists to date no scholarly study of the nude in Canada The historic focus within Canadian art history on the landscape painting of the Group of Seven has meant that themes concerning the figure and the nude have largely gone unexamined This study examines the female nude as an artistic genre in Canada from 1920 to 1940 in an effort to understand how it became the site of moralizing discourse as well as attending to the reasons for the disenfranchisement of the genre in Canadian art history It is important to read the nude in modern Canadian art for what it reveals about concerns over gender class race and national identity I address how masculinity was central to the historic emphasis on the Group of Seven's work an emphasis that has meant that predominantly urban themes concerning the figure and the nude have been censored and repressed In my analysis of a selection of artworks by Canadian artists from the interwar period I contend that the nude was a nexus point for the often diverse and at times incompatible ways that artists and the public responded to the development of modern art and the conditions of modernity

The Nude in Canadian Painting Jerrold A. Morris, 1972 Painting in Canada J. Russell Harper, 1977-01-01 Since its first appearance in 1967 Russell Harper's classic study of Canadian painting has been recognized as the outstanding authority on the subject This edition provides a comprehensive survey generously illustrated of three centuries of Canadian painting from its beginnings in the seventeenth century Through a lively combination of entertaining anecdotes descriptions of the cultural background biographical accounts and critical judgement the reader comes to know intimately the artists their paintings and their environments Included are 173 reproductions 45 added since the first addition They all owe the reader to see representative works from all periods and provide a visual record of the cultural and social history of Canada

Art Et Architecture Au Canada Loren Ruth Lerner, Mary F. Williamson, 1991-01-01 Identifies and summarizes thousands of books article exhibition catalogues government publications and theses published in many countries and in several languages from the early nineteenth century to 1981

Contesting Bodies and Nation in Canadian History Patrizia Gentile, Jane Nicholas, 2013-12-06 From fur coats to nude paintings and from sports to beauty contests the body has been central to the literal and figurative fashioning of ourselves as individuals and as a nation In this first collection on the history of the body in Canada an interdisciplinary group of scholars explores the multiple ways the body has served as a site of contestation in Canadian history in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Showcasing a variety of methodological approaches Contesting Bodies and Nation in Canadian History includes essays on many themes that engage with the larger historical relationship between the body and nation medicine and health fashion and consumer culture citizenship and work and more The contributors reflect on the intersections of bodies with the concept of nationhood as well as how understandings of the body are historically contingent The volume is capped off with a critical introductory chapter by the editors on the history of bodies and the development of the body as a category of analysis

Censoring Art Roisin Kennedy, Riann Coulter, 2018-10-30 Art is continuously subjected to insidious forms of censorship This may be by the Church to guard against moral degeneration by the State to promote a specific political agenda or by the art market to elevate one artist above another Now and in the last century artwork that touches on ethnic religious sexual national or institutional sensitivities is liable to be destroyed or hidden away ignored or side lined Drawing from new research into historical and contemporary case studies Censoring Art Silencing the Artwork provides diverse ways of understanding the purpose and mechanisms of art censorship across distinct geopolitical and cultural contexts from Iran Japan and Uzbekistan to Britain Ireland Canada Macedonia Soviet Russia and Cyprus Its contributions uncover the impact of this silent control of the production and exhibition of art and consider how censorship has affected art practice and public perceptions of artworks

Enjoying Canadian Painting Patricia Godsell, 1976 The Nude in Canadian painting Jerrold Morris, 1972 A to Z of Canadian Art Blake McKendry, 1997 Canadian Art, 1966 Encyclopedia of nineteenth-century photography John Hannavy, 2008 The first comprehensive encyclopedia of world photograph up to the beginning of the twentieth century It sets out to be the standard definitive reference work on the subject for years to come

The Nude in Canadian Painting Judith Hynes, 1965 Catalogue of the Library of the National Gallery of Canada: Mah National Gallery of Canada. Library, 1973 Canadian Painting in the Thirties Charles C. Hill, National Gallery of Canada, 1975 The Growth of Canadian Painting Donald W. Buchanan, 1950 A Concise History of Canadian Painting Dennis R. Reid, 1988 First published in 1973 this book quickly became an indispensable short history of Canadian painting and was reprinted many times For this Second Edition the text has been revised to incorporate new information and in some places new interpretations and expanded The First Edition studied Canadian painting to 1965 masterfully combining visual description anecdotes and aesthetic evaluation with full accounts of the careers of most of the leading painters beginning in the French colonial period This Second Edition covers painting to 1980 A long final chapter treats a crucial fifteen years when there developed in Canada a tremendous interest in other art forms and apparent falling off of interest in painting In fact the cry was heard throughout the western world that painting was dead It turned out however that this was far from true Dennis Reid discusses the work of established artists who produced steadily in this period including Jack Bush Jack

Chambers Greg Curnoe Gershon Iskowitz John Meredith Guido Molinari Jack Shadbolt and Claude Tousignant as well as new arrivals on the scene who have since joined the ranks of leading Canadian artists Among the more recent painters discussed are David Bolduc John Boyle David Craven Paterson Ewen Ivan Eyre Yves Gaucher John Hall Ron Martin Michale Morris Norval Morrisseau Christopher Pratt Shirley Wiitasalo and Tim Zuck Enriched by this overview and by many additions to the original text A Concise History of Canadian Painting in its Second Edition is the widest ranging and most authoritative handbook available Lucid interesting and informative it is still a pleasure to read from first to last Back cover

Contemporary Canadian Art David G. Burnett, Marilyn Schiff, 1983 A survey of painting and sculpture in Canada from the Second World War to 1983 The Review of Reviews ,1891 The Review of Reviews Albert Shaw, 1894 American Monthly Review of Reviews ,1891
