Bowden, Richard John Howarth, 2006 This Special Publication has 24 papers with an international authorship and is prefaced by an introductory overview which presents highlights in the field. The first section covers the acceptance by science of the reality of the falls of rock and metal from the sky an account that takes the reader from BCE before common era to the nineteenth century. The second section details some of the world's most important collections in museums their origins and development. The Smithsonian chapter also covers the astonishingly numerous finds in the cold desert of Antarctica by American search parties. There are also contributions covering the finds by Japanese parties in the Yamato mountains and the equally remarkable discoveries in the hot deserts of Australia North Africa Oman and the USA. The other seven chapters take the reader through the revolution in scientific research on meteoritics in the later part of the twentieth century including terrestrial impact cratering and extraordinary showers of glass from the sky tektites now known to be Earth impact sourced. Finally the short epilogue looks to the future.

A Dingo Ate My Math Book Burkard Polster, Marty Ross, 2017-12-27 A Dingo Ate My Math Book presents ingenious unusual and beautiful nuggets of mathematics with a distinctly Australian flavor. It focuses for example on Australians love of sports and gambling and on Melbourne's iconic mathematically inspired architecture. This collection of engaging stories was extracted from the Maths Masters column that ran from 2007 to 2014 in Australia's Age newspaper. The maths masters in question are Burkard Polster and Marty Ross two immigrant Aussie mathematicians who each week would write about math in the news providing a new look at old favorites mathematical history quirks of school mathematics whatever took their fancy. All articles were written for a very general audience with the intention of being as inviting as possible and assuming a minimum of mathematical background.

The Best Australian Trucking Stories Jim Haynes, 2011-11-01 A collection of true stories taken from the lives of trucking men and women from Tarcutta to Alice Springs and all over Australia. The trucker's job so vital to our nation's everyday life makes for a diverse treasure trove of stories. This first ever collection of stories about Aussie truckers captures the humour tragedy and fascinating history of their world proving once again that truth is often stranger funnier and more inspiring than fiction. The unlikely yarns and tales collected by Jim Haynes quickly transport the reader into the intriguing but often hard and lonely world of the long distance truck driver. There are stories of endurance while crossing the Nullarbor in the early 1950s of rescuing mates stranded in the desert and dumping wheat in protest at Parliament House of repossessing vehicles in suburban Adelaide and of men imprisoned during the long political battle to make the roads of Australia free to carry freight.
