Spiders House:

House Spiders - Worldwide Wolfgang Nentwig, Jutta Ansorg, Paula E. Cushing, Yvonne Kranz-Baltensperger, Christian Kropf, 2025-01-03 To avoid any misunderstandings this book is not about spiders as pets but about those spiders that live in our houses and apartments as lodgers. Mostly ignored and sometimes wrongly feared, there is hardly a building in the world that does not harbour some species of spider. What is fascinating is that we always find the same species. These spiders must have special adaptations because the humidity in our homes is far too low, they are too clean, and the food supply is usually scarce. However, those spiders that have made the leap into our four walls are rewarded with a worldwide right to stay. This in turn is due to people's eagerness to trade and migrate worldwide. Humans tirelessly transport their belongings and an endless stream of goods around the world in sacks, parcels, and containers. And our domestic spiders as stowaways travel just as tirelessly and unrecognized. It is therefore possible to present domestic spiders found throughout the world in a single book as they are essentially the same everywhere. The 50 or so most important species and species groups are presented here in a generally understandable way with a detailed profile, photos, and distribution maps. The authors of this book are experts who work at museums, universities, and in administration in Europe and North America. They are not only recognized scientists but have also been avowed spider fans for decades.

The Big Book of Bird Houses and Bird Feeders Thom Boswell, David Schoonmaker, Bruce Woods, 2004 Big, beautiful, and filled with breathtaking photographs and unique projects, this is one book every bird lover simply must have. It's got everything from design considerations to construction basics to a jaw-dropping assortment of feeders, baths, and houses to make. Information on the planning stages explains how to choose the right home for a particular bird, discourage unwanted guests, and mount and site the piece. There's advice on feeding habits, too, but the main feature is the incredible projects which will delight humans as much as our feathered friends. They include a charming Dutch Treat home with a windmill, a Cuckoo Condo, a rustic Bird Cage Feeder made from grapevines, and even a swimming pool complete with diving board.

Urban Insects and Arachnids William H. Robinson, 2005-04-14 This account provides the first comprehensive coverage of the insect and other arthropod pests in the urban environment worldwide. Presented is a brief description, biology, and detailed information on the development, habits, and distribution of urban and public health pests. There are 570 illustrations to accompany some of the major pest species. The format is designed to serve as a ready reference and to provide basic information on orders, families, and species. The species coverage is international and based on distribution in domestic and peridomestic habitats. The references are extensive and international and cover key papers on species and groups. The introductory chapters overview the urban ecosystem and its key ecological components and a review of the pests' status and modern control strategies. The book will serve as a professional training manual and handbook for the pest control professionals, regulatory officials, and urban entomologists. It is organized alphabetically throughout.
