Diffuse Radio Foregrounds Matias Vidal Navarro, 2015-12-15 This extensive thesis work covers several topics including intensity and polarization focusing on a new polarization bias reduction method Vidal studied data from the WMAP satellite which is low signal to noise and as such has to be corrected for polarization bias He presents a new method for correcting the data based on knowledge of the underlying angle of polarization Using this novel method he sets upper limits for the polarization fraction of regions known to emit significant amounts of spinning dust emissions He also studies the large scale loops and filaments that dominate the synchrotron sky The dominant features are investigated including identification of several new features For the North Polar Spur a model of an expanding shell in the vicinity of the Sun is tested which appears to fit the data Implications for CMB polarization surveys are also discussed In addition Vidal presents interferometric observations of the dark cloud LDN 1780 at 31 GHz and shows that the spinning dust hypothesis can explain the radio properties observed

Questions of Modern Cosmology Mauro D'Onofrio, Carlo Burigana, 2009-07-09 Are we living in the golden age of cosmology Are we close to understanding the nature of the unknown ingredients of the currently most accepted cosmological model and the physics of the early Universe Or are we instead approaching a paradigm shift What is dark matter and does it exist How is it distributed around galaxies and clusters Is the scientific community open to alternative ideas that may prompt a new scientific revolution as the Copernican revolution did in Galileo's time Do other types of supernovae exist that can be of interest for cosmology Why have quasars never been effectively used as standard candles Can you tell us about the scientific adventure of COBE How does the extraction of the Cosmic Microwave Background anisotropy depend on the subtraction of the various astrophysical foregrounds These among many others are the astrophysical philosophical and sociological questions surrounding modern cosmology and the scientific community that Mauro D'Onofrio and Carlo Burigana pose to some of the most prominent cosmologists of our time Triggered by these questions and in the spirit of Galileo's book Dialogue Concerning the Two Chief World Systems the roughly 40 interview partners reply in the form of essays with a critical frankness not normally found in reviews monographs or textbooks

Structure Formation in the Universe Robert G. Crittenden, 2012-12-06 This book contains a series of lectures given at the NATO Advanced Study Institute ASI Structure Formation in the Universe held at the Isaac Newton Institute in Cambridge in August 1999 The ASI was held at a critical juncture in the development of physical cosmology when a flood of new data concerning the large scale structure of the Universe was just becoming available There was an air of excitement and anticipation would the standard theories fit the data or would new ideas and models be required Cosmology has long been a field of common interest between East and West with many seminal contributions made by scientists working in the former Soviet Union and Eastern bloc A major aim of the ASI was to bring together scientists from across the world to discuss exciting recent developments and strengthen links However a few months before the meeting it appeared that it might have to be cancelled The war in the former Yugoslavia escalated and NATO began a protracted bombing campaign against targets in Kosovo and Serbia Many scientists felt uneasy about participating in a NATO funded meeting in this situation After a great deal of discussion it was agreed that the developing East West conflict only heightened the need for further communication and that the school should go ahead as planned but with a special session devoted to discussion of the legitimacy of NATO's actions

Current Topics in Astrofundamental Physics: The Cosmic Microwave Background Norma G. Sánchez, 2012-12-06 This NATO Advanced Study Institute provided an up dated understanding from a fundamental and deep point of view of the progress and current problems in the early universe cosmic microwave background radiation large scale structure dark matter problem and the interplay between them The focus was placed on the Cosmic Microwave Background Radiation Emphasis was given to the mutual impact of fundamental physics and cosmology both at theoretical and experimental or observational levels within a deep and well defined programme and a global unifying view which in addition provides of careful inter disciplinary Special Lectures were devoted to neutrinos in astrophysics and high energy astrophysics In addition each Course of this series introduced and promoted topics or subjects which although not being of purely astrophysical or cosmological nature were of relevant physical interest for astrophysics and cosmology Deep understanding clarification synthesis careful interdisciplinarity within a fundamental physics framework were the main goals of the course Lectures ranged from a motivation and pedagogical introduction for students and participants not directly working in the field to the latest developments and most recent results All Lectures were plenary had the same duration and were followed by a discussion The Course brought together experimentalists and theoretical physicists astrophysicists and astronomers from a variety of backgrounds including young scientists at post doctoral level senior scientists and advanced graduate students as well

Cosmology and Particle Physics Ruth Durrer, Juan Garcia-Bellido, Mikhail Shaposhnikov, 2001-04-06 At this conference both particle physicists and cosmologists presented exciting new results from experiments that determine with unprecedented accuracy whether the universe is spatially flat whether it is accelerating and what the nature of the dark matter could be to more speculative ideas about its origin based on theories of particle physics which might be confirmed or disproved in the not too distant future This conference convinced everyone that we are truly living in the Golden Age of Cosmology
