Splendid Solution:

Splendid Solution Jeffrey Kluger, 2006-02-07 The compelling true story of Dr Jonas Salk's quest to develop a vaccine for polio. In 1916 the United States was hit with one of the worst polio epidemics in history. The disease was a terrifying enigma striking out of nowhere; it afflicted tens of thousands of children and left them literally overnight paralyzed. Others it simply killed. At the same time a child named Jonas Salk was born. When Franklin Delano Roosevelt was diagnosed with polio shortly before assuming the Presidency, Salk was given an impetus to study this deadly illness. After assisting in the creation of an influenza vaccine, Salk took up the challenge. His progress in combating the virus was hindered by the politics of medicine and by a rival researcher determined to discredit his proposed solution. But Salk's perseverance made history and for close to seventy years his vaccine has saved countless lives, bringing humanity close to eradicating polio throughout the world. Splendid Solution chronicles Dr Salk's race against time to achieve an unparalleled breakthrough that made him a cultural hero and icon of modern medicine.

From the early nineteenth century when the first train stations, cathedrals of technology buildings without precedent in the history of architecture, were constructed, these focal points of transportation have enjoyed a unique status in public life. They have come a long way from the simple wooden shed erected in Liverpool, England, in 1830. In the wake of the rail renaissance of the 1980s and 1990s, new train stations from the U.S. to Japan must respond to increasingly complex challenges as high speed trains become more and more common and the next generation of magnetically levitated trains approaches. The state of the art examples featured in Modern Trains and Splendid Stations are analyzed from several perspectives: as generators of urban renewal, as new architectural icons, and as connecting points from different means of transportation. Such internationally renowned architects as Helmut Jahn in the United States, Nicholas Grimshaw in England, and Arata Isozaki in Japan have all been involved in station design.
