Handbook for Arabic Language Teaching Professionals in the 21st Century Kassem Wahba, Zeinab A. Taha, Liz England, 2014-06-03 This landmark volume offers an introduction to the field of teaching Arabic as a foreign or second language. Recent growth in student numbers and the demand for new and more diverse Arabic language programs of instruction have created a need that has outpaced the ability of teacher preparation programs to provide sufficient numbers of well qualified professional teachers at the level of skill required. Arabic language program administrators anticipate that the increases in enrollment will continue into the next decades. More resources and more varied materials are seriously needed in Arabic teacher education and training. The goal of this Handbook is to address that need. The most significant feature of this volume is its pioneer role in approaching the field of Arabic language teaching from many different perspectives. It offers readers the opportunity to consider the role, status and content of Arabic language teaching in the world today. The Handbook is intended as a resource to be used in building Arabic language and teacher education programs and in guiding future academic research. Thirty four chapters authored by leaders in the field are organized around nine themes: Background of Arabic Language Teaching, Contexts of Arabic Language Teaching, Communicative Competence in Arabic, The Learners, Assessment, Technology Applications, Curriculum Development, Design and Models, Arabic Language Program Administration and Management, and Planning for the Future of Arabic Language Learning and Teaching. The Handbook for Arabic Language Teaching Professionals in the 21st Century will benefit and be welcomed by Arabic language teacher educators and trainers, administrators, graduate students and scholars around the world. It is intended to create dialogue among scholars and professionals in the field and in related fields, dialogue that will contribute to creating new models for curriculum and course design, materials and assessment tools, and ultimately better instructional effectiveness for all Arabic learners everywhere in both Arabic speaking and non Arabic speaking countries.

Languages of the World
Asya Pereltsvaig, 2012-02-09 What do all human languages have in common and in what ways are they different? How can language be used to trace different peoples and their past? Are certain languages similar because of common descent or language contact? Assuming no prior knowledge of linguistics, this textbook introduces readers to the rich diversity of human languages, familiarizing students with the variety and typology of languages around the world. Linguistic terms and concepts are explained in the text and in the glossary, and illustrated with simple, accessible examples. Eighteen language maps and numerous language family charts enable students to place a language geographically or genealogically. A supporting website includes additional language maps and sound recordings that can be used to illustrate the peculiarities of the sound systems of various languages. Test yourself questions throughout the book make it easier for students to analyze data from unfamiliar languages.

Language Education Policy: The Arab Minority in Israel M. Amara, 2002-05-31 The Israeli reality points to a number of deep divisions among the population such as between Sephardi, Ashkenazi, Orthodox, secular, men, women, Arab

Jew most of which in our opinion are progressively decreasing as time passes The Arab Jewish divide is the deepest of all and there is still no solution In spite of its intensity it did not enjoy a centrality whether in public debates or in academia This subject has only come on the agenda after sharp tensions between Arabs and Jews In this book we will explore in more detail some aspects of the Arab Jewish divide which raise fundamental questions regarding the place of the Arabs and Arab language education in the Jewish State More specifically the aim of this book is to describe and analyze language education in the Arab society in Israel from the establishment of the state in 1948 until today For this purpose internal processes which are embedded within the Arab population itself were examined such as the socio economic condition of the population the diglossic situation in the Arabic language and the wide use of Hebrew among Arabic speakers Furthermore the book also deals with external processes such as the policy of control and inspection of the Ministry of Education over the Arab education system in general and on language education in particular the dominance of Hebrew and the definition and perception of Israel as a Jewish State The influence of both internal and external processes on language education and learning achievements will also be extensively discussed A comprehensive examination was made of Arabic Hebrew and English as well as the teaching of French in a number of community schools The target group for this book are people who are concerned with sociolinguistics language education and language policy and planning This book will be also of special interest to Arab language teachers and policy makers in Israel Multilingualism, Cultural Identity, and Education in Morocco Moha Ennaji,2005-01-20 In this book I attempt to show how colonial and postcolonial political forces have endeavoured to reconstruct the national identity of Morocco on the basis of cultural representations and ideological constructions closely related to nationalist and ethnolinguistic trends I discuss how the issue of language is at the centre of the current cultural and political debates in Morocco The present book is an investigation of the ramifications of multilingualism for language choice patterns and attitudes among Moroccans More importantly the book assesses the roles played by linguistic and cultural factors in the development and evolution of Moroccan society It also focuses on the impact of multilingualism on cultural authenticity and national identity Having been involved in research on language and culture for many years I am particularly interested in linguistic and cultural assimilation or alienation and under what conditions it takes place especially today that more and more Moroccans speak French and are influenced by Western social behaviour more than ever before In the process I provide the reader with an updated description of the different facets of language use language maintenance and shift and language attitudes focusing on the linguistic situation whose analysis is often blurred by emotional reactions ideological discourses political biases simplistic assessments and ethnolinguistic identities

Developmental, Modal, and Pathological Variation — Linguistic and Cognitive Profiles for Speakers of Linguistically Proximal Languages and Varieties

Kleanthes K. Grohmann, Maria Kambanaros, Evelina Leivada, 2018-11-08 One significant area of research in the multifaceted field of bilingualism over the past two decades has been the demonstration validation and account of the so called bilingual advantage This refers to the hypothesis that bilingual speakers have advanced abilities in executive functions and other domains of human cognition Such cognitive benefits of bilingualism have an impact on the processing mechanisms active during language acquisition in a way that results in language variation Within bilingual populations the notion of language proximity or linguistic distance is also of key importance for deriving variation In addition sociolinguistic factors can invest the process of language development and its outcome with an additional layer of complexity such as schooling language dominance competing motivations or the emergence of mesolectal varieties which blur the boundaries of grammatical variants This is particularly relevant for diglossic speech communities biletal bidialectal or bivarietal speakers The defined goal of the present Research Topic is to address whether the bilingual advantage extends to such speakers as well Thus Linguistic and Cognitive Profiles for Speakers of Linguistically Proximal Languages and Varieties become an important matter within Developmental Modal and Pathological Variation Biblia ,1892 The Spoken Arabic of Egypt John Selden Willmore,1901-01-01
