Yucatan Before and After the Conquest Friar Diego Landa, William Gates, 2011-06-25 In 1562 de Landa conducted an Auto de F in Man where in addition to 5000 idols he burned 27 books in Maya writing. This one act deprived future generations of a huge body of Mayan literature. He culturally impoverished the descendants of the Mayas and left only four codices for scholars to puzzle over. The document translated here is de Landa's apology and one of the few remaining contemporary texts which describe pre conquest Mayan society science and art in detail. As such it must be read in context. The translator and editor the distinguished Americanist William Gates provides plenty of background on de Landa the decline of the Maya and what is today known about their ancient culture. Landa's Relación de las cosas de Yucatán also created a valuable record of the Mayan writing system which despite its inaccuracies was later to prove instrumental in the later decipherment of the writing system. Landa asked his informants his primary sources were two Maya individuals descended from a ruling Maya dynasty literate in the script to write down the glyptic symbols corresponding to each of the letters of the Spanish alphabet in the belief that there ought to be a one to one correspondence between them. The results were faithfully reproduced by Landa in his later account although he recognised that the set contained apparent inconsistencies and duplicates which he was unable to explain. Later researchers reviewing this material also formed the view that the de Landa alphabet was inaccurate or fanciful and many subsequent attempts to use this transcription remained unconvincing. It was not until much later in the mid twentieth century when it was realised and then confirmed that it was not a transcription of an alphabet as Landa and others had originally supposed but was rather a syllabary Confirmation of this was only to be established by the work of Russian linguist Yuri Knorozov in the 1950s and the succeeding generation of Mayanists Relaci n de las cosas de Yucat n was written by Diego de Landa Calder n circa 1566 shortly after his return to Spain after serving as Bishop of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Yucat n in the sixteenth century In it de Landa catalogues a partial explanation of written and spoken language that proved vital to modern attempts to decipher the language 1 as well as Maya religion and the Mayan peoples culture in general It was written with the help of local Maya princes and contains the famous translation of I do not want to The original manuscript has been lost although many copies still survive Currently available English translations include William E Gates s 1937 translation has been published by multiple publishing houses under the title Yucatan Before and After the Conquest Yucatan Before and After the Conquest Diego de Landa Calderon,2025-11-25 Yucatan Before and After the Conquest offers one of the few surviving descriptions of Maya society ritual practice scientific knowledge and artistic traditions before Spanish domination Military Ethos and Visual Culture in Post-Conquest Mexico M?aDom?uez Torres,2017-07-05 Bringing to bear her extensive knowledge of the cultures of Renaissance Europe and sixteenth century Mexico M a Dom uez Torres here investigates the significance of military images and symbols in post Conquest Mexico She shows how the conquest in fact involved dynamic exchanges between cultures and that certain interconnections between martial social and religious elements resonated with similar intensity among Mesoamericans and Europeans creating indeed cultural bridges between these diverse communities Multidisciplinary in approach this study builds on scholarship in the fields of visual literary and cultural studies to analyse the European and Mesoamerican content of the martial imagery fostered within the indigenous settlements of central Mexico as well as the ways in which local communities and leaders appropriated manipulated modified and reinterpreted foreign visual codes Military Ethos and Visual Culture in Post Conquest Mexico draws on post structuralist and post colonial approaches to analyse the complex dynamics of identity formation in colonial communities The Works of Hubert Howe Bancroft: History of Mexico. 1883-1888 Hubert Howe Bancroft,1887
