The Political Economy of Housing Sila Demirors, 2023-04-12 In The Political Economy of Housing The Case of Turkey Sila Demirors explores the analytical and historical process of how housing a special use value and social relation which is crucial for the social reproduction of labour power becomes an instrument of speculative finance to feed itself While the second part of the book discusses the political economy of housing in Turkey in which housing has been used by the state as both a political project and a macroeconomic tool for the last two decades the first part of the book formulates a methodological and theoretical framework to provide a comprehensive approach for comparative housing research from a Marxist political economy perspective

British Housebuilders Fred Wellings, 2006-09-07 British Housebuilders is the first comprehensive account of the corporate history of the twentieth century speculative housebuilding industry the firms that supplied those houses and the entrepreneurs who created those firms The transition from the local housebuilders of the 1930s through the regional diversification of the 1960s to the national housebuilders of today is charted via a series of industry league tables The rationale for the growth in national firms is analysed The conventional explanation of economies of scale is rejected instead the stock market is found to play a key role both in facilitating acquisitions and in demanding growth from its constituent companies The supply side analysis also addresses the frequent corporate failures succession issues lack of focus and the 1974 and 1990 recessions have played their part in equal measure British Housebuilders provides the first opportunity to review the evidence drawn from a century of speculative housebuilding it is only with this historical perspective that sound judgements can be made on the corporate role in housebuilding
