The Nine-tenths James Oppenheim,2013    The Nine-Tenths James Oppenheim,2007-04-01 That windy autumn noon the young girls of the hat factory darted out of the loft building and came running back with cans of coffee and bags of candy and packages of sandwiches and cakes They frisked hilariously before the wind with flying hair and sparkling eyes and crowded into the narrow entrance with the grimy pressmen of the eighth floor Over and over again the one frail elevator was jammed with the laughing crowd and shot up to the hat factory on the ninth floor and back The men smoked cigarettes as the girls chattered and flirted with them and the talk was fast and free At the eighth floor the pressmen got off still smoking for Mr Joe was still out Even after the presses started up they went on surreptitiously though near one group of them in a dark corner of the printery lay a careless heap of cotton waste thoroughly soaked with machine oil This heap had been passed by the factory inspector unnoticed the pressmen took it for granted and Joe in his slipshod manner gave it no thought    The Nine-tenths James Oppenheim,1968 This is a pre 1923 historical reproduction that was curated for quality Quality assurance was conducted on each of these books in an attempt to remove books with imperfections introduced by the digitization process Though we have made best efforts the books may have occasional errors that do not impede the reading experience We believe this work is culturally important and have elected to bring the book back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide    The Nine-tenths James Oppenheim,1979 This is a pre 1923 historical reproduction that was curated for quality Quality assurance was conducted on each of these books in an attempt to remove books with imperfections introduced by the digitization process Though we have made best efforts the books may have occasional errors that do not impede the reading experience We believe this work is culturally important and have elected to bring the book back into print as part of our continuing commitment to the preservation of printed works worldwide    The Nine-Tenths James Oppenheim,2017-12-14 Excerpt from The Nine Tenth A Novel But his printery was his chief passion It absorbed him by its masterful stress overwhelm ing every sense trembling thundering clanking ashing catching his eye with turning wheels and chewing press mouths and enveloping him in something tremulously homelike and elemental Even that afternoon as Joe stood at the high wall desk near the door under a golden bulb of light figuring on contracts with Marty Briggs he felt his singular happiness of belonging Here he had spent the work hours of the last ten years he was a living part of this living press room this was as native to him as the sea to a fish And glancing about the crowded gray room everything seemed so safe secure unending as if it would last forever Up to that very evening Joe had been merely an average American clean of mind and body About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish
