Statistics for the Human Sciences M. Hammerton, 1965      A Review of NASA Human Research Program's Scientific Merit Assessment Processes Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Sciences Policy, Committee on the Review of NASA Human Research Program's Scientific Merit Assessment Processes, 2012-08-20 At the request of NASA an IOM committee reviewed NASA Human Research Program's HRP's Scientific Merit Assessment Processes for directed research Directed research is commissioned or noncompetitively awarded research that is not competitively solicited because of specific reasons such as time limitations or highly focused or constrained research topics The scientific merit assessment processes have been developed by NASA to evaluate individual directed research tasks in order to ensure the scientific integrity of the HRP's directed research portfolio The committee examined the HRP's current scientific merit assessment processes and conducted a public workshop to identify best practices among other federal agencies that use various assessment processes for similar types of directed research Review of NASA Human Research Program's Scientific Merit Processes Letter Report finds that the scientific merit assessment process used by the HRP for directed research is scientifically rigorous and is similar to the processes and merit criteria used by many other federal agencies and organizations including the Department of Defense National Institutes of Health and the United States Department of Agriculture for comparable types of research This report also makes recommendations on ways to streamline and bolster the accountability and transparency of NASA's current processes      Teaching Research Methods in the Social Sciences Mark Garner, Claire Wagner, Barbara Kawulich, 2016-04-01 How can excellence in the teaching of research methods be encouraged and ensured This question has become increasingly important following the adoption of research methodology as a core part of many postgraduate and undergraduate courses There has however been little discussion about the aims and methods of teaching the subject In this volume a number of authors from a variety of countries and disciplines employ their knowledge and experience towards the development of a pedagogical culture in research methods Their aim is to establish the extent of common concerns and challenges and to demonstrate ways in which these are being met Intended to provide both a stimulus and source materials for the development of a more substantial and systematic literature in the field the book will be of great interest to all those teaching research methods courses within social science disciplines      Survey Research in the Social Sciences Charles Y. Glock, John Bennett, 1967-12-31 Survey research was for a long time thought of primarily as a sociological tool It is relatively recently that this research method has been adopted by other social sciences and related professional disciplines The amount and quality of its use however vary considerably from field to field This volume describes the elementary logic of survey design and analysis and provides for each discipline an evaluation of how survey research has been used and conceivably may be used to deal with the central problems of each field      Library of Congress Subject Headings Library of Congress.
