Speaking Of Madness:

Speaking of Madness Amy Louise Hyne-Sutherland, 2015 Discourse on madness is ubiquitous in world cultures The behaviors beliefs and experiences that come to be labeled as madness vary according to context and the language used to identify and describe these behaviors beliefs and experiences also varies significantly Though there is great diversity of interpretation it is nevertheless the case that madness however contextually defined is a universal human category within discourses on behavior and experience Employing the method of discourse comparison this dissertation works toward developing a model of the discourse on madness in India by developing a meta linguistic vocabulary for describing positions within the discourse Two collections of sources are compared selections from classical Sanskrit literature and a body of interviews pamphlets and conference recordings from 2012 2013 India The analytical focus is on how attributions of madness are made through which words and levels of discourse and due to what kinds of affiliations or motivations political social religious or otherwise Each of the six chapters with the exception of Chapter 1 on constructions of health and normalcy addresses a different sphere of concern that arises when people are confronted with behavior they interpret as madness defining madness Chapter 2 creating madness Chapter 3 legislating madness Chapter 4 curing madness Chapter 5 and aspiring to madness Chapter 6 In analyzing the materials in these chapters from a comparative perspective I identify sub discourses increasingly specific discourses on madness within the spheres of concern and also spectrums of interpretation spectrums of positions found within the discourse on madness In organizing the discourse into these categories we can compare positions on madness at various levels of specificity within and across cultures Ultimately the goal is to better understand and more systematically compare how people from different times and places have imagined described and managed madness operationally defined here as pathologized deviant behavior in both similar and unique ways A Poetics of Trauma Ilana Szobel, 2013 Astute analysis of the work of a great Israeli poet through the lens of psychoanalysis gender nationalism and trauma theory Speaking Philosophically Thomas Sutherland, 2023-03-23 Western philosophy has often claimed for itself not just a distinct sphere of knowledge but a distinct form of communication set against ordinary speech In Speaking Philosophically Thomas Sutherland proposes that for some philosophers authentic philosophizing demands a specific manner of speaking or writing adoption of which enables one to gesture toward truths that propositional speech will never grasp Drawing on a variety of thinkers Heraclitus Plato Kant Fichte Nietzsche Kierkegaard Weil Foucault and Irigaray Sutherland argues this emphasis on the form of philosophical communication can function as an exclusionary mechanism determining who is deemed capable of speaking philosophically A Breath of Fresh Eyre, 2007-01-01 Ever since its publication in 1847 Jane Eyre one of the most popular English novels of all time has fascinated scholars and a wide reading public alike and has proved a source of inspiration to successive generations of creative writers and artists There is hardly any other hypotext that has been re worked in so many adaptations for stage and screen has inspired so many painters and musicians and has been so often imitated re written parodied or extended by prequels and sequels New versions in turn refer to and revise older rewritings or take up suggestions from Bront scholarship creating a dense intertextual web The essays collected in this volume do justice to the variety of media involved in the Jane Eyre reworkings by covering narrative visual and stage adaptations including an adaptor s perspective Contributions review a diverse range of works from postcolonial revision to postmodern fantasy from imaginary after lives to science fiction from plays and Hollywood movies to opera from lithographs and illustrated editions to comics and graphic novels The volume thus offers a comprehensive collection of reworkings that also takes into account recent novels plays and works of art that were published after Patsy Stoneman s seminal 1996 study on Bront Transformations

Breaking Up (at) Totality Debra Diane Davis, 2000 Rhetoric and composition theory has shown a renewed interest in sophistic countertraditions as seen in the work of such postphilosophers as Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault and H l ne Cixous and of such rhetoricians as Susan Jarratt and Steven Mailloux As Diane Davis traces today s theoretical interest to those countertraditions she also sets her sights beyond them Davis takes a third sophistic approach one that focuses on the play of language that perpetually disrupts the either or binary construction of dialectic She concentrates on the nonsequential third excess that overflows language s dichotomies In this work laughter operates as a trope for disruption or breaking up which is from Davis s perspective a joyfully destructive shattering of our confining conceptual frameworks
