

Dakota Rural Action to host public meeting on Referred Law 21

HURON — Dakota Rural Action will hold an informational meeting on Referred Law 21 at 6 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 29, at Spotlight Studio 4C Events in Huron. Everyone is welcome to attend.

RL-21, prompted by the influx of proposed carbon dioxide pipelines and passed as Senate Bill 201 during the last legislative session, was referred to the ballot earlier this year. South Dakota citizens gathered over 30,000 signatures to refer this law to a vote of the people.

The evening's speakers are Ed Fischbach, a Spink County farmer and impacted landowner, and Chase Jensen, DREA's senior coordinator who has a long history of working on this issue.

They will review the history of the carbon dioxide pipeline, including how it led to RL-21 being on the ballot. The meeting is being hosted by Stacy Robertson, a DREA Board member.

Lawmakers approve $10 million of outdoor recreation fee increases

PIERRE — Lawmakers unanimously approved nearly $10 million worth of annual fee increases Tuesday in Pierre for outdoor recreation such as hunting and park visitation, with a goal of bolstering conservation efforts and accomplishing deferred park projects.

The South Dakota Legislature's Rules Review Committee gave final approval to the Department of Game, Fish, and Parks' budget. The fee increases were previously approved by the GF&P Committee earlier this month in Huron.

Kevin Kobling, department secretary, said the additional funds will help address hundreds of projects put on hold due to budget constraints.

The projects are part of the department's five-year development and maintenance plan, which Kobling described as critical to ensuring the state's outdoor recreation areas remain accessible and well-maintained.

Department officials cited inflation as the driving force. The department's Division of Parks and Recreation, which oversees state parks, last adjusted fees in 2019.

The Wildlife Division, which manages conservation, hunting, fishing and wildlife management, did so in 2014.

The increases cover an array of licenses and fees, with non-South Dakota residents paying higher prices.

For example, nonresident state park entrance licenses are

Lawmakers, prison officials shut out public during discussion of weekslong lockdown

Tribal president requests meetings about sweat lodge tear-downs

BY JOHN HULT

Lawmakers on an audit committee got a rundown Monday about a weekslong lockdown at the South Dakota State Prison in Sioux Falls, but every word that hadn't already appeared in state prison press releases was spoken behind closed doors.

Department of Corrections Secretary Kelli Wasko spent about 10 minutes of the state's Governance, Operations and Audit Committee in Pierre walking through 12 pages of slides on the lockdown and alleged soon as Wasko finished her prepared remarks. Public boards, commissions and local governments are required to abide by open meetings laws when entering executive session, but the Legislature is exempt.

Sen. Reynolds Nelson, D-Sioux Falls, began to ask a question before the body moved to close its doors. Rep. Ernie Otten, R-Tea, cut him off.

"We're going to hold all questions until we go into executive session," Otten told him.

say that everything that I've heard, and that is being done, is being done for inmate safety, staff safety and community safety," said Rep. Drew Peterson, R-Deer.

Otten said he seconded the sentiment. "It has been very informative, and I'm glad that we do have the personnel that we've got that are rectifying these problems," Otten said. "So from the bottom of my heart, thank you."

It's unclear how much of the executive session was devoted to discussions of the lockdown.

This summer, under questioning from the state's law enforcement, outbreaks of violence at Mike Queree State Prison in Springfield, Wasko said she would be willing to give committed officers "nitty gritty" of security incidents, once the DCCA finished investigating, but only behind closed doors.

Legislators opt to subpoena officials

BY JOHN HULT

The refusal of a state department director to explain what's behind a recent vehicle titling scandal sparked a rare subpoena request from a legislative committee on Monday.

Department of Revenue Secretary Michael Houdyshell appeared before the Legislature's Government, Operations and Audit Committee in Pierre to discuss a new software system and other internal controls. Measures he said will prevent further vehicle titling troubles.

Department employees are criminally charged in a federal vehicle titling scheme, following an investigation into similar allegations against a deceased former employee.

But Houdyshell refused, even during an hourlong closed-door executive session, to offer details on the new internal controls. Houdyshell cited the criminal procedure rules that prohibit the possibility of future lawsuits, and said rules direct practicing attorneys to avoid making public statements about a case.

When the committee reconvened publicly, Sen. David Wheeler, R-Bismarck, told his fellow committee members that he disagreed with Houdyshell's interpretation of that rule.

Wheeler and Houdyshell both declined comment. Wheeler argued that rules barring public statements about a case can't logically apply to statements offered behind closed doors.

He also said there is no case law preventing actions could land the state in a lawsuit.

The secretary said it's a pattern from the executive branch, and one that prevents lawmakers with oversight authority from doing their jobs.

"We need some sort of resolution to this, because this is the way we always get. It's occurred in the past when we've had controversies like this before this committee," Wheeler said. "Officials say they're pending litigation, there's a threat of litigation, therefore there's no response."

The committee voted 7-2 to support subpoenas for Houdyshell and Rosa Tager, director of the Revenue Department's Motor Vehicle Division. A subpoena is a legal order requiring someone to offer testimony or produce evidence.

The subpoenas would need approval from the Legislature's Judiciary Board.

Lawmakers tried and failed in 2013 to find a way that would have granted subpoena powers to the

The Land of Enchantria Bill Dispoto, 2016-10-18 In the land of Enchantria there is an ancient prophecy handed down by the imperial wizard eons ago and passed down from generation to generation The prophecy states that during an age of darkness in a year of a constant moon to a mortal woman who is queen and a mortal man who is king will be born an enchanted boy child This child himself destined one day to be king will have the power to bring light to all creatures great and small He will right the wrongs done in the name of evil he will restore the land to its earthly form and he will forever drive the darkness from the hearts and souls of all beings Six beings all born on the same day but to different lives have their futures inexplicably and inexorably connected to serve the prophecy Two princesses one the golden haired daughter of a good king and queen and the other the raven haired daughter of a witch queen bent on revenge and power Two half bloods both exiled from the tribes of their parents find each other and form a lifetime bond of friendship and alliance pledging to protect the child princess And finally two mortal enemies born in the deepest reaches of the dark forest one half animal half man with only death and suffering in its heart and the other a member of the gifted tribe whose abilities will mean the balance of power between the powers of light and darkness As they grow their lives are all set upon the same path to locate and obtain a magical device of unspeakable power the diamond scepter It is said that the scepter can make a weak enchanter strong and make a strong enchanter invincible but legend has it that the scepter also controls the mythical Iron Army an undefeatable army of indestructible soldiers Both sides want the scepter the agents of the light want it returned to its rightful place in the Crystal City but the agents of the darkness want its power to destroy the light and rule of Enchantria
