Reading Fiction in Antebellum America James L. Machor,2011-04-01 James L Machor offers a sweeping exploration of how American fiction was received in both public and private spheres in the United States before the Civil War Machor takes four antebellum authors Edgar Allan Poe Herman Melville Catharine Sedgwick and Caroline Chesebro and analyzes how their works were published received and interpreted Drawing on discussions found in book reviews and in private letters and diaries Machor examines how middle class readers of the time engaged with contemporary fiction and how fiction reading evolved as an interpretative practice in nineteenth century America Through careful analysis Machor illuminates how the reading practices of nineteenth century Americans shaped not only the experiences of these writers at the time but also the way the writers were received in the twentieth century What Machor reveals is that these authors were received in ways strikingly different from how they are currently read thereby shedding significant light on their present status in the literary canon in comparison to their critical and popular positions in their own time Machor deftly combines response and reception criticism and theory with work in the history of reading to engage with groundbreaking scholarship in historical hermeneutics In so doing Machor takes us ever closer to understanding the particular and varying reading strategies of historical audiences and how they impacted authors' conceptions of their own readership

Romantic Poetry Angela Esterhammer, 2002-01-01 Romantic Poetry encompasses twenty seven new essays by prominent scholars on the influences and interrelations among Romantic movements throughout Europe and the Americas It provides an expansive overview of eighteenth and nineteenth century poetry in the European languages The essays take account of interrelated currents in American Argentinian Brazilian Bulgarian Canadian Caribbean Chilean Colombian Croatian Czech Danish English Estonian Finnish French German Greek Hungarian Irish Italian Mexican Norwegian Peruvian Polish Romanian Russian Serbian Slovak Spanish Swedish and Uruguayan literature Contributors adopt different models for comparative study tracing a theme or motif through several literatures developing innovative models of transnational influence studying the role of Romantic poetry in socio political developments or focusing on an issue that appears most prominently in one national literature yet is illuminated by the international context This collaborative volume provides an invaluable resource for students of comparative literature and Romanticism

SPECIAL OFFER 30% discount for a complete set order 5 vols The Romanticism series in the Comparative History of Literatures in European Languages is the result of a remarkable international collaboration The editorial team coordinated the efforts of over 100 experts from more than two dozen countries to produce five independently conceived yet interrelated volumes that show not only how Romanticism developed and spread in its principal European homelands and throughout the New World but also the ways in which the affected literatures in reaction to Romanticism have redefined themselves on into Modernism A glance at the index of each volume quickly reveals the extraordinary richness of the series total contents

Romantic Irony sets the broader experimental parameters of comparison by concentrating on the myriad expressions of irony as one of the major impulses in the Romantic philosophical and artistic revolution and by combining cross cultural and interdisciplinary studies with special attention also to literatures in less widely diffused language streams

Romantic Drama traces creative innovations that deeply altered the understanding of genre at large fed popular imagination through vehicles like the opera and laid the foundations for a modernist theater of the absurd

Romantic Poetry demonstrates deep patterns and a sharing of crucial themes of the revolutionary age which underlie the lyrical expression that flourished in so many languages and environments

Nonfictional Romantic Prose assists us in coping with the vast array of writings from the personal and intimate sphere to modes of public discourse including Romanticism's own self commentary in theoretical statements on the arts society life the sciences and more Nor are the discursive dimensions of imaginative literature neglected in the closing volume

Romantic Prose Fiction where the basic Romantic themes and story types the romance novel novella short story and other narrative forms are considered throughout

Europe and the New World This enormous realm is seen not just in terms of Romantic theorizing but in the light of the impact of Romantic ideas and narration on later generations As an aid to readers the introduction to Romantic Prose Fiction explains the relationships among the volumes in the series and carries a listing of their tables of contents in an appendix No other series exists comparable to these volumes which treat the entirety of Romanticism as a cultural happening across the whole breadth of the Old and New Worlds and thus render a complex picture of European spiritual strivings in the late eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries a heritage still very close to our age     The Book of Days Robert Chambers,1883
