Feedforward and Feedback Processes in Vision Hulusi Kafaligonul, Bruno G. Breitmeyer, Haluk Öğmen, 2015-07-10 The visual system consists of hierarchically organized distinct anatomical areas functionally specialized for processing different aspects of a visual object Felleman Van Essen 1991 These visual areas are interconnected through ascending feedforward projections descending feedback projections and projections from neural structures at the same hierarchical level Lamme et al 1998 Accumulating evidence from anatomical functional and theoretical studies suggests that these three projections play fundamentally different roles in perception However their distinct functional roles in visual processing are still subject to debate Lamme Roelfsema 2000 The focus of this Research Topic is the roles of feedforward and feedback projections in vision Even though the notions of feedforward feedback and reentrant processing are widely accepted it has been found difficult to distinguish their individual roles on the basis of a single criterion We welcome empirical contributions theoretical contributions and reviews that fit into any one or a combination of the following domains 1 their functional roles for perception of specific features of a visual object 2 their contributions to the distinct modes of visual processing e g pre attentive vs attentive conscious vs unconscious 3 recent techniques methodologies to identify distinct functional roles of feedforward and feedback projections and corresponding neural signatures We believe that the current Research Topic will not only provide recent information about feedforward feedback processes in vision but also contribute to the understanding fundamental principles of cortical processing in general The Attractions of the Moving Image Tom Gunning, 2025-04-30 An essential collection of new and selected essays by influential cinema and media studies scholar Tom Gunning Tom Gunning is the author of multiple books and nearly two hundred essays that have defined the field of cinema and media studies His works have transformed our understanding of early cinema and the American avant garde and reset the terms of many central debates in film and media history and theory His 1986 essay The Cinema of Attractions is among the most cited essays on film ever published Gunning's writings articulate a distinctive and powerful model for thinking about cinema's history and likely future addressing the full range of moving image media from film to still photography to digital media His discussions draw on stage melodrama and magic lantern shows as well as criminology world's fairs and Spiritualism surveying the medium as a cultural phenomenon informed by the industrial and information ages psychiatry urban experience discourses on art and aesthetics and more This collection brings together twenty six essays that showcase the depth and range of Gunning's scholarship including four that have never before been published Together they solidify Gunning's place as a scholar who has transformed the way generations of scholars archivists critics and artists think about cinema Journal of the Royal Society of Arts Royal Society of Arts (Great Britain), 1898 The Persistence of Vision Steven F. Joseph, 2002 Journal of the Society of Arts, 1898 Physical Review, 1900 Vols for 1903 include Proceedings of the American Physical Society Photography and Cinema Teresa M. Flores, Joana Cunha Leal, Margarida Medeiros, 2015-09-18 Eclecticism seems to be one of the most recognized features of Chris Marker's work He is often presented as a filmmaker and a photographer a poet a translator a cartoonist a visual artist an editor a software designer and a television and video director Given the 50 years since the release of his most well known film La Jet e 1963 this volume fosters discussion of the intertwining of photography and cinema within a framework that analyses Marker s influence in film and photography s scholarship In the last ten years many books have been published on the subjects of photography and
