The History of the Danes, Books I-IX

Saxo (Grammaticus), 1998 In the early years of the thirteenth century the Danish writer Saxo Grammaticus provided his people with a History of the Danes an account of their glorious past from the legendary kings and heroes of Denmark to the historical present It is one of the major sources for the heroic and mythological traditions of northern Europe though the complex Latin style and the wide range of material brought together from different sources have limited its use Here Hilda Ellis Davidson a specialist in Scandinavian mythology together with the translator Peter Fisher provides a full English edition each of the first nine books is preceded by an introductory summary and a detailed commentary follows on the folklore and life and customs of twelfth century Denmark including the sources of Hamlet of which Saxo gives the earliest known account HILDA ELLIS DAVIDSON's other books include The Sword in Anglo Saxon England PETER FISHER is also the translator of Olaus Magnus A Description of the Northern Peoples Both are available from Boydell Brewer In the early years of the 13th century the Danish writer Saxo Grammaticus provided his people with a dignified and ambitious Latin account of their glorious past from the mythical past to the historical present He collected the legends of Scandinavian gods and heroes and arranged their exploits in a series of biographies which ostensibly formed an unbroken sequence He took his tales from a variety of sources and readers will find his collection of myths folklore and fabulous history fascinating An accurate and readable translation of the nine mythological books based on the best scholarly edition RUTH MORSE BRITISH BOOK NEWS The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 Simon Gikandi, Evan Mwangi, 2007 The Columbia Guide to East African Literature in English Since 1945 challenges the conventional belief that the English language literary traditions of East Africa are restricted to the former British colonies of Kenya Uganda and Tanzania Instead these traditions stretch far into such neighboring countries as Somalia and Ethiopia Simon Gikandi and Evan Mwangi assemble a truly inclusive list of major writers and trends They begin with a chronology of key historical events and an overview of the emergence and transformation of literary culture in the region. Then they provide an alphabetical list of major writers and brief descriptions of their concerns and achievements. Some of the writers discussed include the Kenyan novelists Grace Ogot and Ngugi wa Thiong'o, Ugandan poet and essayist Taban Lo Liyong, Ethiopian playwright and poet Tsegaye Gabre Medhin, Tanzanian novelist and diplomat Peter Palangyo, Ethiopian novelist Berhane Mariam Sahle Sellassie, and the novelist M G Vassanji who portrays the Indian diaspora in Africa, Europe and North America. Separate entries within this list describe thematic concerns such as colonialism, decolonization, the black aesthetic and the language question, the growth of genres like autobiography and popular literature, important movements like cultural nationalism and feminism, and the impact of major forces such as AIDS, HIV, Christian missions and urbanization. Comprehensive and richly detailed, this guide offers a fresh perspective on the role of East Africa in the development of African and world literature in English and a new understanding of the historical, cultural and geopolitical boundaries of the region.

The Humanities and the Dynamics of African Culture in the 21st Century John Ayotunde Isola Bewaji, Kenneth W. Harrow, Eunice E. Omonzejie, 2017-05-11

That Africa is at a crossroads in an increasingly globalised world is indisputable. Equally unassailable is the fact that the humanities as a broad field of intellect, research and learning in Africa appears to have been pigeonholed in debates of relevance in the development aspirations of many African nations. Historical experiences and contemporary research outputs indicate however that the humanities in its various shades is critical to Africa's capacity to respond effectively to such problems as security, corruption, political ineptitude, poverty, superstition and HIV/AIDS among many other mounting challenges which confront the people of Africa. The vibrancy and resilience of Africa's cultures against these and other odds of globalisation episodes in the course of our history demand the focused attention of academia to exploit their relevance to contemporary issues. This collection provides a comprehensive overview of issues in the humanities at the turn of the 21st century which create a veritable platform for the global redefinition and understanding of Africa's rich cultures and traditions. Such areas covered include ruminations in metaphysics and psychology, pathos and ethos, cinematic and literary connections and historical conceptualisations.
