Transformation of Cities in Central and Eastern Europe F. E. Ian Hamilton, Kaliopa Dimitrovska, Andrews, Nataša Pichler-Milanović, 2005 Annotation This volume is one in a series initiated by the United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies on the inter relationship between globalisation and urban transformation. It identifies and describes the inter and intra urban transformations of Central and Eastern European cities and considers their pre 1945 historic legacies, the socialist period and their contemporary transition towards market oriented and democratic systems. The dramatic changes since 1989 including the collapse of Communist ideology, the break up of the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, the end of the Cold War and the impact of globalisation and European integration have reconfigured this region and affected their re integration into European and global networks. This book first examines the similarities and differences between significant Central and Eastern European cities comparing the differing patterns of historical context and socialist legacies before 1990 and the impacts of internal and external forces on re shaping these cities and their paths of transformation since 1990. It also examines the role of contemporary planning within the overall development of Central and Eastern European cities. The conclusion demonstrates the similarities and differences between Central and Eastern European cities and their re integration into global networks

The Urban Mosaic of Post-Socialist Europe Sasha Tsenkova, Zorica Nedovic-Budic, 2006-12-02 The book explores urban dynamics in post socialist Europe 15 years after the fall of communism. The urban mosaic metaphor expresses the complexity, diversity and uniqueness of the processes and spatial outcomes in post socialist cities. The book examines the urban development and the policy and planning processes that have resulted from the socio economic, political and institutional transformations characterizing the move to markets and democracy. The emerging urban phenomena are illustrated with in depth case studies sensitive to historical themes, cultural issues and the socialist legacy Cities featured in the book include Kazan St Petersburg Moscow Warsaw Prague Komarno Budapest Belgrade Bucharest Sofia and Tirana The edited volume is organized around the following four themes the driving forces of post socialist change urban processes and spatial change housing and retail sector transformation and urban planning and policy responses Three Decades of Transformation in the East-Central European Countryside Jerzy Bański, 2019-06-26 This book identifies diagnoses and evaluates social and economic processes taking place in the rural areas of Central and Eastern Europe CEE states in the last 25 years and affecting the immediate future with a particular focus on their spatial diversity It addresses questions related to the rationality of the current development policy and possible results in the future Contemporary processes of socio economic development are typified by the fact that spatial and regional disparities are tending to increase This unfavourable phenomenon manifested both in society and in terms of polarised space needs to be counteracted using an effective development policy The book highlights issues concerning demography functional structure and non agricultural activity and identifies new challenges arising from membership of the European Union EU Accession to the EU and the opportunity to implement support measures has further increased the dynamism of transformation a process that proceeded under various scenarios and different regulations and assumptions that have yet to be identified and evaluated Furthermore the current internal policies of individual CEE states concerning rural areas are diverse and likely to affect differential future development The book is based on the knowledge and experience of scientists from countries in the region investigated who have the best understanding of the subject matter and have observed the transformations It is intended for researchers exploring the development of the countryside and practitioners dealing with regional and national development policies targeting rural areas The Routledge Handbook to Regional Development in Central and Eastern Europe Gábor Lux, Gyula Horváth, 2017-07-06 Twenty five years into transformation Central and Eastern European regions have undergone substantial socio economic restructuring integrating into European and global networks and producing new patterns of regional differentiation and development Yet post socialist modernisation has not been without its contradictions manifesting in increasing social and territorial inequalities Recent studies also suggest there are apparent limits to post socialist growth models accompanying a new set of challenges within an increasingly uncertain world Aiming to deliver a new synthesis of regional development issues at the crossroads between post socialism and post transition this book identifies the main driving forces of spatial restructuring in Central and Eastern Europe and charts the different regional development paths which take shape against the backdrop of post crisis Europe A comparative approach is used to highlight common development challenges and the underlying patterns of socio economic differentiation alike The issues investigated within the Handbook extend to a discussion of the varied economic consequences of transition the social structures and institutional systems which underpin development processes and the broadly understood sustainability of Central and Eastern Europe's current development model This book will be of interest to academics and policymakers working in the fields of regional studies economic geography development studies and policy Residential Change and Demographic Challenge Annett Steinföhrer, Sigrun Kabisch, Katrin Grossmann, 2016-04-08 Going beyond the assumption that East Central European cities are still in transition this book draws on the postsocialism paradigm to ask new questions about the impact of demographic change on residential developments in this region Focussing on four second order cities in this region it examines Gdansk and Lódz in Poland and Brno and Ostrava in the Czech Republic as examples and deals with the nexus between urban development and demographic change for the context of East Central European cities It provides a framework for linking urban and demographic research It discusses how residential areas and urban developments cope with changes in population development household types and different forms of in and out migration and goes on to explore parallels and differences in comparison with broader European patterns This book will be useful to academics of urban planning and development especially in transition areas Central and Eastern European studies demographics and population studies and sociology social exclusion Urban Sprawl in Europe Chris Couch, Gerhard Petschel-Held, Lila Leontidou, 2008-04-15 Urban sprawl is one of the most important types of land use changes currently affecting Europe It increasingly creates major impacts on the environment via surface sealing emissions by transport and ecosystem fragmentation on the social structure of an area by segregation lifestyle changes and neglecting urban centres and on the economy via distributed production land prices and issues of scale Urban Sprawl in Europe landscapes land use change Sprawl in the post socialist city as typified by Warsaw Leipzig and Ljubljana Decline and sprawl where a comparative analysis of Liverpool and Leipzig shows that sprawl is not confined to expanding cities Sprawl based on the development of second homes as found in Sweden Austria and elsewhere In part III a formal qualitative model of sprawl is developed Policies for the control of urban sprawl and the roles of different stakeholders are considered Finally a concluding chapter raises questions about the nature and dynamics of these new urban landscapes and their sustainability Current Issues in Globalization

Robert E. Westerfield, J. Abbink, 2004 People around the globe are more connected to each other than ever before Information and money flow more quickly than ever Goods and services produced in one part of the world are increasingly available to the rest of the world International travel is more frequent International communication is commonplace This phenomenon has been titled globalisation The Era of Globalisation is fast becoming the preferred term for describing the current times Just as the Depression the Cold War Era the Space Age and the Roaring 20s are used to describe particular periods of history globalisation describes the political economic and cultural atmosphere of today While some people think of globalisation as primarily a synonym for global business it is much more than that not exist also allow social activists labour organisers journalists academics and many others to work on a global stage This book brings together a wide range of expertise addressing these issues from the perspective of authors from around the world Contents Preface From Westernisation to the Whirl of Globality Conceptualising Globalisation and its Effects on Local Societies Globalisation and

Competitiveness A Comparative Analysis of Selected Developing Countries vs Industrial Countries Globalisation Marginalisation and Growth in Emerging Market Economies Globalisation of Real Estate Markets and Urban Development in Central Europe The Challenges of Globalisation The Role of the World Bank The Meaning and Limitation of Public Life under Global Capitalism Violence and State Re Formation in the African Context Global and Local Aspects of Crisis and Change State Ideology Global Economy and Coping Strategies Index European Spatial Research and Policy ,2008 The Spatial Impact of Economic Changes in Europe William Lever,Antoine Bailly,1996 The economies of Europe are changing rapidly More and more employment and output comes from the service sector less employment is to be found in agriculture mining and manufacturing although output has been sustained Economies have deindustrialised the environment has improved the large factories have been broken up into networks of smaller enterprises products production and labour have all become more flexible This book examines these processes of economic change in western Europe in southern Europe and in east central Europe These changes bring problems as well as opportunities Unemployed manual workers are not re employed in the service sector there is increased social and economic polarisation Europe has suffered from the increasing levels of international competition The final section of the book concerns policy intervention to tackle some of these problems Policies for equity efficiency and environmental protection are examined as are the policy framework and the political basis for policy BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Budapest Review of Books ,1997 Twenty Years of Transition Sonia Hirt,Kiril Stanilov,2009 The Region György Enyedi,István Tózsa,2004 Emphasizing the role of public administration this book is concerned with the regional aspect of the social and economic development of the post communist region of Europe especially Hungary with a few comparative outlooks on Slovakia the Czech Republic and Poland The chapters contain surveys and case studies of interest to anyone interested in the regional development of this huge region of Europe which is joining the Union in 2004 The first chapter entitled Regional Development describes the changes of the regional structure and the regional processes in the Eastern half of Europe and in Hungary particularly brought about by the emergence of the multiparty democracy the market economy and the integration to the globalizing world The studies included in the second chapter present how local regional and national governments react to the above changes and processes in the form of Regional Policy in Hungary and in the Eastern Central European Region in general The studies on Social Transition and Urban Restructuring in Central Europe György Enyedi,1992 Social Structure and Social Change in Eastern Europe George Fischer,Walter Schenkel,1970 Housing Change in East and Central Europe Stuart Lowe,S. Tsenkova,2003 Ten years after the fall of the Berlin Wall patterns of change to the former communist nations of Europe are now discernible in a way that was impossible to see in the initial years This insightful book focuses on the case of changes in housing based on evidence collected from across the Central and Eastern European region The volume adopts a conceptual framework and provides cross regional analysis amongst which is situated

a series of more focused case studies Issues examined include the consequences of the rapid privatization of state rental housing including the emergence of super owner occupied countries dramatic changes in urban structure and evidence that housing having been the shock absorber against which wider economic restructuring has occurred now faces a whole series of deferred problems The enthusiasm with which the market economy was initially embraced must now be tempered by a more sober assessment of what in reality has happened
