The Phantom Letters:

The Life and Letters of Charles Darwin Charles Darwin, 1887 The Works of Alexander Pope. Including ... Unpublished Letters and Other New Materials. Collected in Part by the Late Rt. Hon. J.W. Croker. With Introduction and Notes by ... Whitwell Elwin [and W.J. Courthope. The Life of Pope. By W.J. Courthope.] ... With Portraits and Other Illustrations Alexander Pope, 1882 Rules of Encounter Jeffrey S. Rosenschein, Gilad Zlotkin, 1994 Provides a unified coherent account of machine interaction at the level of the machine designers the society of designers and the level of the machine interaction itself the resulting artificial society Rules of Encounter applies the general approach and the mathematical tools of game theory in a formal analysis of rules or protocols governing the high level behavior of interacting heterogeneous computer systems It describes a theory of high level protocol design that can be used to constrain manipulation and harness the potential of automated negotiation and coordination strategies to attain more effective interaction among machines that have been programmed by different entities to pursue different goals While game theoretic ideas have been used to answer the question of how a computer should be programmed to act in a given specific interaction here they are used in a new way to address the question of how to design the rules of interaction themselves for automated agents Rules of Encounter provides a unified coherent account of machine interaction at the level of the machine designers the society of designers and the level of the machine interaction itself the resulting artificial society Taking into account such attributes of the artificial society as efficiency and the self interest of each member in the society of designers it analyzes what kinds of rules should be instituted to govern interaction among these autonomous agents The authors point out that adjusting the rules of public behavior or the rules of the game by which the programs must interact can influence the private strategies that designers set up in their machines shaping design choices and run time behavior as well as social behavior Artificial Intelligence series The Spectral Body Dragon Zoltan, 2009-05-27 The Spectral Body Aspects of the Cinematic Oeuvre of Istv n Szab analyses some of the films made by Academy Award winner Hungarian filmmaker Istv n Szab to establish an interpretative matrix disclosing the root of haunting effects in the visual and the narrative levels of the diegeses By combining two distinct and often incongruous lines of psychoanalytic thought by Nicolas Abraham and Jacques Lacan Zolt n Dragon argues that these films are fuelled by the work of a phantom on all levels hiding the secrets of the family history of the characters and producing uncanny visual scenarios to make the act of hiding even more effective The book brings the reader into the realm of the phantom text generating the film texts and crypt screens of the oeuvre and investigates the causes of undiscussible and painful secrets that propel some pivotal characters to reappear in subsequent films apparently driven by a compulsion to continue their narration failing to finish their stories even when they appear to be successful The Spectral Body Aspects of the Cinematic Oeuvre of Istv n Szab introduces a visual reinterpretation of Abraham s phantom theory that opens up possibilities for an alternative way of studying film I first saw this work in the form of a full and detailed draft I was impressed by the boldness of the ideas the attempt to integrate and work with different theoretical positions and the quite extraordinary reading of the films of István Szabó. There was clearly a powerful and creative and original intelligence at work. A further draft accomplished one important thing that had been missing from the first one: the direct analysis of the visual material and its contribution to the overall narrative and theoretical framework. The work employs a psychoanalytic framework with some key concepts such as the phantom drawn from the work of Torok and Abraham. This theory is fairly well known but it has not to my knowledge been used in any extensive way in the analysis of film texts before. Zoltan also makes reference to Freud and uses some Lacanian ideas in his analysis at the level of the visual. These multiple theoretical references are not inconsistent; they are finely judged and are most productive. Theory is never used as a grid to be imposed on the material. There is a fine balance between theory and textual analysis that is hard to achieve but it is successful here. I think that the position that Zoltan Dragomir has forged for himself and from which he writes is a highly original and interesting one. He has been most successful in developing his framework in relation to Szabó's oeuvre which he knows in the greatest detail. His readings of that oeuvre are rich and powerful and will provoke considerable debate in the world of film studies and also of psychoanalytical studies.
