Who Goes There Rosettabooks Into Film English Edition:

Entertainment Law Reporter, 2001 Motion pictures television radio music theater publishing sports Publishing Law Hugh Jones, Christopher Benson, 2006-04-18 This is an accessible introductory guide to the law as it affects the publishing industry Written by publishing and copyright solicitors with many years experience it contains an up to date evaluation of EEC law and new copyright legislation Rhizomes Nathalie Ramière, Rachel Varshney, 2021-02-19 This volume Rhizomes is a challenging path into a very multidisciplinary set of papers Papers range across cultural studies and film to applied linguistics to sociolinguistics and as gathered in this one volume the result of postgraduate student research of a very high order they force readers to think critically of disciplines their assumed boundaries and most importantly the usefulness of assuming the enduring value of such boundaries This is not to say that anything goes but the diversity of areas under scrutiny means that sharper re thinking of one's own comfort zones is necessarily one key outcome when confronted with a volume like this This is one advantage of the selected papers besides the obvious one of having at your finger tips a simple way of delving into a challenging diversity Brian Ridge Campion College Sydney This is a wonderful collection of papers which demonstrates the power and vitality of contemporary literary and cultural research The scope of the papers the diversity of the subject matter and the willingness of their authors to work across disciplinary boundaries work together to create an exemplary collection of research for the twenty first century multidisciplinary multigeneric and multimodal like 21st century texts and media Greg Hainge's opening paper sets the stage for the diverse and engaging papers that follow With his own examples of rhizomatics drawn from music Greg immediately has the reader acknowledging the multidisciplinary and multimodality of contemporary texts and so the need for research that can address the richness and complexity of these texts In Part 1 we have two papers that address the issue of the limitations of conventional research methodology in their own fields language acquisition film studies and propose alternative and more productive methodologies The exciting thing about this section is that these are fields normally considered very different and without much to say to one another and yet the combination works to create a dialogue that extends across these and many other fields of research Most importantly both challenge the dichotomising of research and analytical methods that has worked to impoverish their fields and the research on which it is based Part 2 presents papers on a range of marginalised social positionings and experiences and in the process demonstrates both the power of research to uncover what has been ignored or elided in contemporary histories how many westerners know of the long history of Chinese women in film Or of an Aboriginal Taiwanese literature as well as the power of new perspectives new ways of thinking the research subject to open up areas of study such as dating manuals and country music both conventionally dismissed as inherently trivial and or sexist In Part 3 the papers all play brilliantly with the notion of connectivity demonstrating for readers the inextricability of texts and meaning systems verbal visual and other with the cultural contexts in which they operate and so the diverse ways they may be deployed These papers banish forever any reliance on a formalist reading or methodology for the analysis of text and meaning And again the range of subject matter is breath taking and argues the need for cross disciplinary transdisciplinary and multidisciplinary research practice Part 4 takes the reader into the realm of transformations challenging the ways in which textual and systemic changes articulate profound cultural changes in the societies that produce them So we learn about grammatical interventions in the Chinese language as feminine and neuter pronouns are added to the gender free Chinese language and consider the major cultural change that both caused this change and is subsequently produced by it We consider the ways in which cinema has evolved as an art form under the influence of its material and verbal technologies And we consider the ways in which Chinese poetry has entered a range of cultural practices in the west and the east and again consider how its traditional meanings and significance are maintained and communicate to these new contexts and the nature of the transcultural experience this generates For the academic student or interested reader this collection offers a breath taking scope of subject matter and a vital and engaged approach to the material that makes this collection a research page turner Professor Anne Cranny Francis Department of Critical and Cultural Studies Macquarie University Sydney

Shock Value Jason Zinoman, 2011-07-07 In the dark underbelly of 1970s cinema an unlikely group of directors rewrote the rules of horror breathing new life into the genre and captivating audiences like never before Much has been written about the storied New Hollywood of the 1970s but while Steven Spielberg and Martin Scorsese were producing their first classic movies a parallel universe of directors gave birth to the modern horror film Shock Value tells the unlikely story of how directors like Wes Craven Roman Polanski and John Carpenter revolutionized the genre plumbing their deepest anxieties to bring a gritty realism and political edge to their craft From Rosemary's Baby to Halloween the films they unleashed on the world created a template for horror that has been relentlessly imitated but rarely matched Based on unprecedented access to the genre's major players this is an enormously entertaining account of a hugely influential golden age in American film
