The Compelling Christ:

The Compelling Faces of Jesus Christ William Powell Tuck, 2008 In seeking to explore who Jesus is the author has explored the meaning of the Incarnation Christ as Teacher and healer and the rejected crucified and risen one Finally he probes the meaning of the Chris as a present reality and how he can still be known Tuck writes in a nontechnical way to draw reader into the realization of the importance of personal commitment to Christ if one is to more fully grasp the meaning of Christ s person and presence The ink drawings by Israel Galindo invite the reader to probe in a visual manner the rich interpretation of the compelling faces of Jesus

BOOK JACKET Mandatory Murder Steven Schubert, 2019-07-01 A compelling true story of homicide and injustice in an outback town At first it looked like a swag said the grader driver He d found the body just off the road outside the outback town of Katherine in the Northern Territory Police quickly identified the dead man as Ray Nicefero who d recently appeared in court for aggravated assault and breaching a domestic violence order Three days later three young local suspects were arrested including nineteen year old Indigenous man Zak Grieve A month later Ray s former partner was also arrested But when the accused faced court in the rough justice system of the Territory it quickly became apparent that there were few provable facts to be had Depending on who was talking a loving friend could be an abusive monster a battered wife a conniving temptress And a joke between mates about the best way to dispose of a body could be a conspiracy to murder The outcome of the case was no less murky thanks to the Territory s mandatory sentencing laws which the judge said brings about injustice Mandatory Murder is the compelling true story of murder in an outback town and the extraordinary aftermath It raises several important questions including how an Indigenous man who didn t attend a murder can be sentenced to jail for twenty years

The Compelling Indwelling James H. Jauncey, 1972 The Compelling Image James Cahill, 1982 The Compelling Image will delight the art lover who does not yet realize that Chinese painting can be as original and moving as El Greco or C zanne With a graceful authority James Cahill explores the radiant painting of that tumultuous era when the collapse of the Ming Dynasty and the Manchu conquest of China dramatically changed the lives and thinking of artists and intellectuals The brilliant masters of the seventeenth century were reconsidering their artistic relationship to nature and to the painting of earlier times while European pictorial arts introduced by Jesuit missionaries were profoundly influencing Chinese techniques The reader viewer is presented with a series of crucial distinctions of style and approach in a richly illustrated book that illuminates the whole character of Chinese painting Cahill begins with a relatively neglected artist Chang Hung who moved traditional forms ever closer to literal descriptions of nature in contrast with the theorist painter Tung Ch i ch ang who turned the same traditional forms into powerful abstractions A chapter focused on Wu Pin offers new and controversial ideas about the impact of European art as well as a related phenomenon revival of the highly descriptive early Sung styles Looking especially at Ch en Hung shou the greatest of the late Ming figure painters Cahill examines a curious mixing of real people and conventionally rendered surroundings in portrait art of the period He analyzes the expressionist experiments of the masters known as Individualists and distinguishes these artists from the Orthodox school concluding with a bold reassessment of the most eloquent of later Chinese painters Tao chi Over 250 illustrations including twelve color plates are drawn from collections in the United States Europe Japan and China This is a book for anyone interested in China its past and its art and for the enthusiast who wishes to broaden the horizons of enjoyment by exposure to a most engaging writer on an exquisite era Chosen of God Herbert William Lathe,1896
