Women in Leadership Positions in the People's Republic of China Maria Adnane,2020-06-02 Master s Thesis from the year 2012 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 7 Heilbronn University language English abstract Women are still significantly underrepresented in Top Management positions and leadership is still associated with the male gender as leadership theories traditionally focus on men This is especially evident in China which has one of the world s highest female labor participation but a female share of only eight percent on the corporate boards Although Chinese women s tertiary educational attainment is now equal to the tertiary education of Chinese men they still face many barriers on their way to the top The strong influence of Confucian values perceiving women as inferior to men remains noticeable until today and women find themselves exposed to a strongly patriarchal business environment As being traditionally the main care givers of their families they are deemed to be expensive potential mothers and thus gender preference can be observed second Classical leadership theories of the Western culture as well as of the Chinese culture are introduced to provide a common understanding of their approaches Further the situation of women in the past and of today is being compared as well as their leadership styles access to managerial leadership positions and the barriers they face Since educational attainment of both genders does not explain why women are rarely found on the upper managerial ranks other reasons that could be a barrier for women's career advancement are examined in this research

The Cegiha Language James Owen Dorsey,1890 Leadership in the Context of Strategic Management Michel Neumann,2021-09-17 Seminar paper from the year 2021 in the subject Business economics Business Management Corporate Governance grade 1 3 AKAD University of Applied Sciences Stuttgart language English abstract The aim of the assignment is to discuss the importance of leadership in the context of strategic management In order to achieve this goal the term leader must be distinguished from manager as a modal goal Furthermore it needs to be clarified the relationship between strategic management and leadership To be able to achieve these goals the theoretical foundations about leadership and strategic management must first be developed in the second and third chapter This includes respectively the history and evolution and a definition of these terms After the basic understanding was created the role of leadership in strategic management will be discussed in the main unit Chapter five provides a conclusion and a critical examination of the research findings In many industries and sectors are currently undergoing a shift from evolutionary change to increasingly disruptive change In this process existing offerings and services are fundamentally called into question and in some cases even become obsolete With this development companies are forced to completely realign their business activities and thus face a complex challenge
