The Lifework:

The Lifework and Legacy of Iona and Peter Opie Julia C. Bishop, June Factor, 2020-04-02 Iona and Peter Opie were twentieth century pioneers. Their research and writing focused on the folklore of British children: their games, rhymes, riddles, secret languages and every variety of the traditions and inventions of the children's collective physical and verbal play. Such closely observed, respectful, good-humoured and historically attuned writing about the traditions of childhood was a revelation to English language readers around the world. Their numerous books were a rare phenomenon: they attracted a popular readership far beyond the professional and academic communities. For those who work with children, their collaborative research was a powerful influence in confirming the immense capacities of the young for cooperation, conservation, invention and imagination. Their books challenged then and now the bleak and limited view of children which focuses on their smallness, ignorance and powerlessness. The writers in this volume pay their tribute to the Opies by exploring a wonderfully varied topography of children's play from different countries and different perspectives. Their research is vivid and challenging: that is as it should be in the tradition of the Opies. This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Play.

Power, Autonomy, Utopia R. Trapp, 2012-12-06 The world is becoming more and more intractable. We have learned to discern systems in it: we have developed a highly sophisticated mathematical apparatus to model them. Large computer simulation programs handle thousands of equations with zillions of parameters. But how adequate are these efforts? Part One of this volume is a discussion containing some proposals for eliminating the constraints we encounter when approaching complex systems with our models. Is it possible at all to design a political or economic system without considering killing, torture and oppression? Can we adequately model the present state of affairs while ignoring their often symbolic and paradoxical nature? Is it possible to explain teleological concepts such as means and ends in terms of basically 17th century Newtonian mechanics? Can we really make appropriate use of the vast amount of systems concepts without exploring their relations without developing a system of systems concepts? And why do more than 95% of all system-modelling efforts end in just a heap of printed paper and nothing else? Leading scientists from different disciplines who have different viewpoints and use very different styles in presenting their message were invited to present their approaches to these and to other problems of equal importance. Either as Plenary Lectures at the Seventh European Meeting on Cybernetics and Systems Research at the University of Vienna, Austria, Professors Stafford Beer, Helga Nowotny and Robert Rosen, Ross Ashby Memorial Lecture or as Invited Lectures to the Austrian Society.

The book is intended to describe what 21st century schooling needs to be.
