Heavenly Sustenance in Patristic Texts and Byzantine Iconography

Elena Ene D-Vasilescu,2018-10-22 This book examines ideas of spiritual nourishment as maintained chiefly by Patristic theologians those who lived in Byzantium It shows how a particular type of Byzantine frescoes and icons illustrated the views of Patristic thinkers on the connections between the heavenly and the earthly worlds The author explores the occurrence and geographical distribution of this new type of iconography that manifested itself in representations concerned with the human body and argues that these were a reaction to docetist ideas The volume also investigates the diffusion of saints cults and demonstrates that this took place on a North South axis as their veneration began in Byzantium and gradually reached the northern part of Europe and eventually the entirety of Christendom

Mysticism and Spirituality in Medieval England

William F. Pollard,Robert Boenig,1997 The late fourteenth and early fifteenth centuries in England were a golden age of mysticism the major figures could draw on and allude to a host of treatises as the Cloud author acknowledges when he explains how the works of St Denis validate all he writes about Without Denis without the theologians of the eleventh and twelfth centuries without the anchoritic writings of the thirteenth century Richard Rolle Julian of Norwich Walter Hilton Margery Kempe could not have written as they did Likewise those who followed them the Wycliffites the Brigittines the writers of religious lyrics responded to those who had gone before The articles presented here identify major themes and the emphasis is on the rich variety of mysticism these authors and texts embody

The Life of Richard Rolle, Together with an Edition of His English Lyrics, Now for the First Time Published, by Frances M. M. C[...]mp[...]. Richard Rolle de

Hampole,1929    Holy Feast and Holy Fast Caroline Walker Bynum,1988-01-07 In the period between 1200 and 1500 in western Europe a number of religious women gained widespread veneration and even canonization as saints for their extraordinary devotion to the Christian eucharist supernatural multiplications of food and drink and miracles of bodily manipulation including stigmata and inedia living without eating The occurrence of such phenomena sheds much light on the nature of medieval society and medieval religion It also forms a chapter in the history of women Previous scholars have occasionally noted the various phenomena in isolation from each other and have sometimes applied modern medical or psychological theories to them Using materials based on saints lives and the religious and mystical writings of medieval women and men Caroline Walker Bynum uncovers the pattern lying behind these aspects of women s religiosity and behind the fascination men and women felt for such miracles and devotional practices She argues that food lies at the heart of much of women s piety Women renounced ordinary food through fasting in order to prepare for receiving extraordinary food in the eucharist They also offered themselves as food in miracles of feeding and bodily manipulation Providing both functionalist and phenomenological explanations Bynum explores the ways in which food practices enabled women to exert control within the family and to define their religious vocations She also describes what women meant by seeing their own bodies and God s body as food and what men meant when they too associated women with food and flesh The author s interpretation of women s piety offers a new view of the nature of medieval asceticism and drawing upon both anthropology and feminist theory she illuminates the distinctive features of women s use of symbols Rejecting presentist interpretations of women as exploited or masochistic she shows the power and creativity of women s writing and women s lives

Late Medieval Liturgies

Enacted Sally Harper,P Barnwell,Magnus Williamson,2017-07-12 This book critically explores ways in which our understanding of late medieval liturgy can be enhanced through present day enactment It is a direct outcome of a practice led research project led by Professor John Harper and undertaken at Bangor University between 2010 and 2013 in partnership with Salisbury Cathedral and St Fagans National History Museum near Cardiff The book seeks to address the complex of ritual devotional musical physical and architectural elements that constitute medieval Latin liturgy whose interaction can be so difficult to recover other than through practice In contrast with previous studies of reconstructed liturgies enactment was not the exclusive end goal of the project rather it has created a new set of data for interpretation and further enquiry Though based on a foundation of historical musicological textual architectural and archaeological research new methods of investigation and interpretation are explored tested and validated throughout There is emphasis on practice led investigation and making the need for imagination and creativity and the fact that enactment participants can only be of the present day Discussion of the processes of preparation analysis and interpretation of the enactments is complemented by contextual studies with particular emphasis on the provision of music A distinctive feature of the work is that it seeks to understand the experiences of different groups within the medieval church the clergy their assistants the singers and the laity as they participated in different kinds of rituals in both a large cathedral and a small parish church Some of the conclusions challenge interpretations of these experiences which have been current since the Reformation In addition some consideration is given to the implications of understanding past liturgy for present day worship
