

Sustainable Management of Rainforests

LO: To examine the different strategies for managing rainforests sustainably.

What You Need To Know for the GCSE

- ✓ What sustainably managed rainforest means.
- ✓ What the methods are of sustainable rainforest management at the international level.
- ✓ What are some of the problems at the governmental level?
- ✓ What methods are there at the local level?
- ✓ What are the features of an ecotourist resort?
- ✓ How to answer a GCSE style question on this topic.

18 February 2025

Key Vocabulary

Conservation

Is the prevention of the wasteful use of resources (e.g. timber can still be used but managed sustainably).

Environmental Protection

Is the act of protecting the environment by groups, individuals, organisations or governments, so ecosystems can remain balanced.

What can be done on the international level?

Task: Managing rainforests effectively needs international cooperation. Here are three examples of how this might be done. Read each of the descriptions and explain how they help sustainably manage the rainforest. Then colour in the thumbs symbol according to how effective you think it is.

Extension: For each one write down one or two limitations that could hamper how effective these solutions are.

Effectiveness Key

Not that great, but it's still fair

Highly effective

Pretty good, might have a few flaws

This would work on some occasions but would have problems

How Can We Sustainably Manage Rainforests at the Local Level?

Description: In this box explain what the method is and how it works to prevent deforestation.

Advantages and Disadvantages: Aim to have at least two advantages and one disadvantage

Effectiveness: How effective do you think it is at protecting the rainforest? Give it a rating out of 5. Shade in the thumbs-up.

| Sustainable Rainforest Management    |                                     |
|--------------------------------------|-------------------------------------|
| Advantages                           | Disadvantages                       |
| • Reduces deforestation              | • May be expensive                  |
| • Encourages local communities       | • May not be effective in all areas |
| • Encourages sustainable agriculture | • May not be effective in all areas |

All the information needed is on the...

Sustainability: Is it effective, does it involve local people, and environmentally friendly? Give it a score out of 5 by shading in the symbols.

Cost: This may be given as a cost per metre or a total cost. The higher the cost the more shade you should shade in.

Features of an Ecotourist Resort

Task: Let's have a closer look at ecotourist resorts. In order to be sustainable, ecotourist resorts will have certain characteristics. Write the subtitle and stick the picture in your book. Add the labels to the picture, but for each one, explain how that would help achieve sustainable use of the rainforest.

example

Extension: Why might some people believe ecotourism is a bad idea than good?

Sustainable Management Of Tropical Catchments:

Sustainable Management of Tropical Catchments David Harper, Antony Gavin Brown, 1999-03-12 Provides syntheses of studies in three continents on the problem of achieving and understanding tropical rural development without compromising longer term sustainability of the soil and watersystems that underpin it. The studies were carried out in Central South America, Africa and Asia during the 1990s mostly through the support of the EU Science and Technology for Development Programme. The studies encompass examples of erosion measurement, erosion control and conservation techniques at soil and ecosystem levels, the limits to uses of fragile tropical soils, the effects of runoff combined with regulation on rivers and reservoirs, and the importance of indigenous people in the development processes and of the value and limitations of modelling at scales from soils to catchment. There is no single message from the book because there is no single solution to the problems of achieving sustainable tropical development. This book presents ideas, techniques and case studies, knowledge of which will help researchers in many scientific and social disciplines to understand the complexities better and politicians and bureaucrats to understand the consequences of development decisions and learn from the failure of many earlier ones.

Criteria and Indicators for Sustainable Forest Management Robert John Raison, Alan Gordon Brown, David W. Flinn, 2001. There is increasing pressure on the forestry industry to adopt sustainable practices but a lack of knowledge about how to facilitate this and how to measure sustainability. This book reviews current thinking about scientifically based indicators and sustainable management of natural forests and plantations. Information is applicable to boreal, temperate and tropical biomes. The contents have been developed from papers presented at a IUFRO conference held in Australia in order to develop a state of the art report on this subject.

Guidelines for the Integrated Management of the Watershed Maciej Zalewski (writer on music), 2002. The world's water resources are becoming scarcer due to overexploitation and quality degradation and in order to stop this trend there is a need to develop proper water planning and management approaches. This publication considers the complementary use of ecohydrology and phytotechnology in the context of integrated water resource management in order to achieve and promote economic and social development without jeopardising the sustainability of the ecosystem.

Restoration and Management of Tropical Eutrophic Lakes M V Reddy, 2005-01-09. This book is an essential knowledge base for both ecological restoration and management. Although tropical lakes are not identical and therefore require individually developed and restoration and management practices there are general principles in both restoration and management that can be derived from the case histories in this book and the limnological literature in general.

Land, Water and Development Malcolm Newson, 2008-09-17. Tracing the evolution of river basin management and the history of applied hydrology, Newson provides a systematic review of policy and practice and argues for a sustainable approach to the changing environment of the world's rivers.
