Structure Of Spherical Buildings:

The Structure of Spherical Buildings Richard M. Weiss, 2020-07-21 This book provides a clear and authoritative introduction to the theory of buildings a topic of central importance to mathematicians interested in the geometric aspects of group theory Its detailed presentation makes it suitable for graduate students as well as specialists Richard Weiss begins with an introduction to Coxeter groups and goes on to present basic properties of arbitrary buildings before specializing to the spherical case Buildings are described throughout in the language of graph theory The Structure of Spherical Buildings includes a reworking of the proof of Jacques Tits's Theorem 4.1.2 upon which Tits's classification of thick irreducible spherical buildings of rank at least three is based In fact this is the first book to include a proof of this famous result since its original publication Theorem 4.1.2 is followed by a systematic study of the structure of spherical buildings and their automorphism groups based on the Moufang property Moufang buildings of rank two were recently classified by Tits and Weiss The last chapter provides an overview of the classification of spherical buildings one that reflects these and other important developments

The Structure of Affine Buildings Richard M. Weiss, 2008-09-08 In The Structure of Affine Buildings Richard Weiss gives a detailed presentation of the complete proof of the classification of Bruhat Tits buildings first completed by Jacques Tits in 1986 The book includes numerous results about automorphisms completions and residues of these buildings It also includes tables correlating the results in the locally finite case with the results of Tits's classification of absolutely simple algebraic groups defined over a local field A companion to Weiss's The Structure of Spherical Buildings The Structure of Affine Buildings is organized around the classification of spherical buildings and their root data as it is carried out in Tits and Weiss's Moufang Polygons in Buildings (AM-190) Bernhard Mühlherr, Holger P. Petersson, Richard M. Weiss, 2015-09-22 Descent in Buildings begins with the resolution of a major open question about the local structure of Bruhat Tits buildings The authors then put their algebraic solution into a geometric context by developing a general fixed point theory for groups acting on buildings of arbitrary type giving necessary and sufficient conditions for the residues fixed by a group to form a kind of subbuilding or form of the original building At the center of this theory is the notion of a Tits index a combinatorial version of the notion of an index in the relative theory of algebraic groups These results are combined at the end to show that every exceptional Bruhat Tits building arises as a form of a residually pseudo split Bruhat Tits building The book concludes with a display of the Tits indices associated with each of these exceptional forms This is the third and final volume of a trilogy that began with Richard Weiss The Structure of Spherical Buildings and The Structure of Affine Buildings
