Sustaining Loss Art And Mournful Life:

Sustaining Loss Gregg Horowitz, 2001 Sustaining Loss explores the uncanny traumatic weaving together of the living and the dead in art and the morbid fascination it holds for modern philosophical aesthetics. Beginning with Kant the author traces how aesthetic theory has been drawn back repeatedly to the moving power of the undead body of the work of art. He locates the most potent expressions of this philosophical compulsion in Hegel's thesis that art is a thing of the past and in Freud's view that the work of art is the haunting of the present by the endless suffering of what is dead but still has claims over the living. The book asserts that modern aesthetics holds the key to unlocking the tortured relation of modernity to the past it is perpetually leaving behind. As the capacity to withstand the inescapable force of a past that is dead for us becomes the supreme test for a fully modern fully secular philosophy aesthetics moves to the center of philosophical reflection. But the author argues this secular philosophical orientation can be sustained only if aesthetic theory remains oriented by intimate contact with modernist works of art. Sustaining Loss examines not only Kant, Hegel and Freud but also the contemporary artists Gerhard Richter and Ilya Kabakov whose art turns fruitfully against art's own past. To live as a modern the author asserts is to live with the dead past that modernist art ceaselessly disgorges. Overall the book aims to articulate an aesthetic theory suitable to the task of living in a time when in Flannery O'Connor's words The blind don't see and the lame don't walk and what's dead stays that way.

Feminist Aesthetics and the Politics of Modernism Ewa Płonowska Ziarek, 2012 Ewa Ziarek fully articulates a feminist aesthetics focusing on the struggle for freedom in women's literary and political modernism and the devastating impact of racist violence and sexism. She examines the contradiction between women's transformative literary and political practices and the oppressive realities of racist violence and sexism and she situates these tensions within the entrenched opposition between revolt and melancholia in studies of modernity and within the friction between material injuries and experimental aesthetic forms. Ziarek's political and aesthetic investigations concern the exclusion and destruction of women in politics and literary production and the transformation of this oppression into the inaugural possibilities of writing and action. Her study is one of the first to combine an in-depth engagement with philosophical aesthetics especially the work of Theodor W. Adorno with women's literary modernism particularly the writing of Virginia Woolf and Nella Larsen along with feminist theories on the politics of race and gender. By bringing seemingly apolitical gender neutral debates about modernism's experimental forms together with an analysis of violence and destroyed materialities Ziarek challenges both the anti-aesthetic subordination of modern literature to its political uses and the appreciation of art's emancipatory potential at the expense of feminist and anti-racist political struggles.

The Persistence of Melancholia in Arts and Culture Andrea Bubenik, 2019-07-04 This book explores the history and continuing relevance of melancholia as an amorphous but richly suggestive theme in literature, music and visual culture as well as philosophy and the history of ideas. Qui Parle ,2008 On the Outlook Thomas Crombez,Katrien Vloeberghs,2007 This volume explores the traditional and contemporary modes and stakes of messianic thinking in its close interaction with both previous and actual political contexts and theoretical discourses In the past decades philosophers and political thinkers repeatedly drew upon the millennial tradition of messianic thinking in their efforts to come to terms with the injustices of the present Their conceptions of messianism build upon and revise modify or radicalize politico theological theories developed in the period between the two world wars by thinkers who in the face of doom and destruction reverted to ancient Judeo Christian visions of redemption The essays address the ways in which today TM s messianic thinking relates to its historical Jewish and Christian origins and how it deals with the legacy of its early twentieth century precursors such as Walter Benjamin Franz Rosenzweig Ernst Bloch Gershom Scholem and Theodor W Adorno Historically attitudes toward messianism interact with the political and historical conditions as well as with the prevailing theoretical and philosophical discourses of their times Cross fertilization between messianism politics and philosophy also inform recent conceptualizations of history and time language and the law in the writings of Emmanuel Lévinas Jacques Derrida and most recently Giorgio Agamben The analysis of messianism in contemporary discourse encourages reflections on the following core questions How does messianism figure in modern and contemporary philosophy How does it relate to today's state of affairs in the juridical political and social realm Is it still primarily a Jewish concern and how has it interacted with other religious and political traditions How does the impact of Jewish messianism on modern philosophy compare with and relate to other influences of Jewish thought such as the legalistic tradition The contributors to this volume shed light on as divergent aspects of messianism as its socio historical embeddedness its discontinuous historiography its manifestations in literature and the arts and its complex relation to human agency Getty Research Journal ,2009 Constructivism and Practice Carol C.
