Strategic Choice And International Relations:

Strategic Choice and International Relations David A. Lake, Robert Powell, 1999-08-08 This text brings together a selection of accepted and contested knowledge in the field of international relations in an attempt to offer a unifying perspective Together these elements enable the pragmatic application of theories to different cases

Strategic Choice and International Relations David A. Lake, Robert Powell, 2020-05-05 The strategic choice approach has a long pedigree in international relations In an area often rent by competing methodologies editors David A Lake and Robert Powell take the best of accepted and contested knowledge among many theories With the contributors to this volume they offer a unifying perspective which begins with a simple insight students of international relations want to explain the choices actors make whether these actors be states parties ethnic groups companies leaders or individuals This synthesis offers three new benefits first the strategic interaction of actors is the unit of analysis rather than particular states or policies second these interactions are now usefully organized into analytic schemes on which conceptual experiments may be based and third a set of methodological bets is then made about the most productive ways to analyze the interactions Together these elements allow the pragmatic application of theories that may apply to a myriad of particular cases such as individuals protesting environmental degradation governments seeking to control nuclear weapons or the United Nations attempting to mobilize member states for international peacekeeping Besides the editors the six contributors to this book all distinguished scholars of international relations are Jeffery A Frieden James D Morrow Ronald Rogowski Peter Gourevitch Miles Kahler and Arthur A Stein Their work is an invaluable introduction for scholars and students of international relations economists and government decision makers

Narrativized Strategic Choice John P. DeRosa, 2020-07-23 In February 2019 Donald Trump announced the United States withdrew from the landmark Cold War era Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces Treaty with Russia sparking worldwide concerns over the specter of a new nuclear arms race The rational actor and game theoretic models dominating international relations literature failed to predict or explain this strategic choice Rationalist normative and materialist models of strategic choice saturate the study of international relations Scholars continue to expose the shortfalls in these approaches in explaining or predicting outcomes of strategic interactions In this timely study John P DeRosa advances a new model of strategic choice through a narrative lens This narrative turn reframes the logic to emphasize the propositions of motives perceptions preferences and the reflexive interaction of strategic choices Case studies of American and Russian nuclear arms control treaties from the negotiations of the Intermediate Range Nuclear Forces INF Treaty in 1987 to the crisis of the US withdrawal from the INF Treaty in 2019 support building a theory of narrativized strategic choice
