Story Of Maps Mapmaking Golden:

Women in American Cartography Judith Tyner, 2019-11-13 Although women have been involved in mapping throughout history their story has largely been hidden The standard histories of cartography have focused on men A woman's name is rarely found In Women in American Cartography Judith Tyner argues that women were not deliberately erased but overlooked because of the types of maps they made and the jobs they held Tyner looks at over fifty women exemplars in American cartography and their maps She looks at teachers who made school atlases in the early nineteenth century at pictorial mapmakers and book illustrators who created popular maps at women who pioneered social and persuasive mapping promoting causes such as suffrage at women travelers who recorded their trips and mapped unexplored places at women whose maps helped win World War II at women academics who studied taught and wrote about cartographic theory at colleges and universities and at women who worked in government agencies and commercial mapping companies These are just a few of the stories of women in American cartography

Conceptual Landscapes Simon M. Bussiere, 2023-05-15 Conceptual Landscapes explores the dilemma faced in the early moments of design thinking through a gradient of work in landscape and environmental design media by both emerging and well established designers and educators of landscape architecture It questions where and more importantly how the process of design starts The book deconstructs the steps of conceptualizing design in order to reignite pedagogical discussions about timing and design fundamentals and to reveal how the spark of an idea happens from a range of unique perspectives Through a careful arrangement of visual essays that integrate analog digital and mixed media works and processes the book highlights differences between diverse techniques and triggers debate between design representation technology and creative culture in the field Taken together the book's visual investigation of the conceptual design process serves as a learning tool for aspiring designers and seasoned professionals alike By situating student work alongside that of experienced teachers and landscape architects the book also demystifies outdated notions of individual genius and sheds new light on the nearly universally messy process of discovery bridged across years and diverse creative vocabularies in the conceptual design process Lavishly illustrated with over 210 full color images this book is a must read for students and instructors in landscape architecture

Mapping Daniel Dorling, 2013-10-08 Illustrates how maps tell us as much about the people and the powers which create them as about the places they show Presents historical and contemporary evidence of how the human urge to describe understand and control the world is presented through the medium of mapping together with the individual and environmental constraints of the creator of the map
