Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps us understand the world by asking questions and finding answers. When faced with a problem, such as water being too salty for drinking, using science to make an improvement can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective solution.

Designing solutions requires considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Documenting the progress of a solution helps track changes, adjustments, and the impact of each step. Making trade-offs carefully, for example, choosing materials for a water filter that are both effective and safe, is an important part of the scientific process.

After developing a solution, documenting how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises that had to be made are all important parts of the process. Communication, sharing findings clearly, and reflecting on the impact of the solution are essential steps. The scientific process helps us develop solutions that are effective, safe, and sustainable.
