Mount Rushmore is one of America s most popular tourist attractions visited by three million people every year to see the magnificent sculptures of the four American presidents carved into the rock The man responsible for the Mount Rushmore carvings was Gutzon Borglum who along with a team of 400 men spent 14 years working on the sculpture before it was completed in 1941 Given the sheer size and scope of the project it s no surprise that Mount Rushmore was a gargantuan undertaking in every conceivable way Originally envisioned as a monument that would help spur tourism to South Dakota it took hundreds of workers nearly 15 years to laboriously dynamite and carve the likenesses of the four presidents faces into the side of Mount Rushmore about 60 feet up As if the final product wasn't ambitious enough the supervisors originally envisioned carving all the way down to each president's waist and including a commemoration of achievements like the Declaration of Independence alongside the figures Amazingly the entire project cost less than 1 million and there were no fatalities Exhibiting Patriotism Teresa Bergman, 2013 Examining interpretive materials exhibits and films at major US historic sites where controversy has erupted over historical interpretation Exhibiting Patriotism shows how historical narratives change over time shaped by the dynamic relationship between these museums their visitors and the public

Seeing Nature Through Gender Virginia Scharff, 2003 Environmental history has traditionally told the story of Man and Nature Scholars have too frequently overlooked the ways in which their predominantly male subjects have themselves been shaped by gender Seeing Nature through Gender here reintroduces gender as a meaningful category of analysis for environmental history showing how women's actions desires and choices have shaped the world and seeing men as gendered actors as well In thirteen essays that show how gendered ideas have shaped the ways in which people have represented experienced and consumed their world Virginia Scharff and her coauthors explore interactions between gender and environment in history. Ranging from colonial borderlands to transnational boundaries from mountaintop to marketplace they focus on historical representations of humans and nature on questions about consumption on environmental politics and on the complex reciprocal relations among human bodies and changing landscapes. They also challenge the ecofeminist position by challenging the notion that men and women are essentially different creatures with biologically different destinies. Each article shows how a person or group of people in history have understood nature in gendered terms and acted accordingly often with dire consequences for other people and organisms. Here are considerations of the ways we study sexuality among birds of William Byrd's masking sexual encounters in his account of an eighteenth century expedition of how the ecology of fire in a changing built environment has reshaped firefighters own gendered identities. Some are playful as in a piece on the evolution of snow bunnies to shred betties. Others are dead serious as in a chilling portrait of how endocrine disrupters are reinventing humans animals and water systems from the cellular level out. Aiding and adding significantly to the enterprise of environmental history Seeing Nature through Gender bridges gender history and environmental history in unexpected ways to show us how the natural world can remake the gendered patterns we've engraved on ourselves and on the planet. Mount Rushmore, 2015 This book tells the story of Mount Rushmore one of the world's largest sculptures.
