The Centenary Book of Hull John Markham,1997    Crafting Identities, Remapping Nationalities Cécile Coquet-Mokoko,Trevor Harris,2011-12-08 In the different versions of multiculturalism that have re shaped English speaking societies and political systems identities appear more plastic than in societies which have constructed their national narratives on more stubborn denials of their colonial and patriarchal pasts yet the myth of purity or authenticity and separatist temptations remain very real parameters of identity politics In such contexts crafting an identity for oneself implies expectations of consistency linked not only to the individual need to prove oneself and disprove stereotypes and statistics but also to the broader political goal of dis alienating or as it were de Othering oneself and one's community The contributors to this book explore the different ways from the most institutional to the most intimate in which people articulate the politics of memory and the creation of national narratives or communal and personal identities    Hull Daily Mail Hull Daily Mail,1985    Cultural Mega-Events and Heritage Davide Ponzini,2023-03-21 This book analyses case studies of heritage rich cities that hosted mega events to discuss emerging challenges controversies and accomplishments The future of mega events has never been more uncertain The ongoing COVID 19 pandemic has introduced an unparalleled level of doubt regarding the kind of mega events that will take place in the coming years This book arrives at a quite unique moment of reflection Prior to 2020 cities were already questioning the traditional format of mega events e.g. Olympics and Expo while other cultural mega events have been spreading and gaining popularity thanks in part to typically lower costs of infrastructures and venues far more adaptable arrangements spatial distribution and time frame for hosting In these ways they have already been demonstrating higher flexibility in which to respond to future health and safety constraints When it comes to the relation to the existing city cultural mega events have been planned implemented and studied far more than any other By leveraging the richness of cultural mega events this multidisciplinary collection deepens the intersection between events and cultural heritage The chapters in this book provide a new theoretical framework critical questions and relevant case studies to argue that the nexus between mega events and heritage is a key challenge for many cities in Europe and beyond The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of European Planning Studies    The

this region problematises an often assumed national or generalised experience of civilian life during the war by shifting the frame of analysis away from the metropolis This book begins with chapters related to wartime resilience including analysis of pre war fear of invasion and bombardment and government policy on public safety It then moves on to a discussion of power relations and the local implementation of policy related to bombardment including policing Finally the book explores the coastal urban environment focusing on depictions of war damage in popular culture and the wartime and post war commemoration of civilian bombardment This work provides a multi faceted perspective on civilian resilience while responding to a recent call for new histories of the coastal zone
