Stolen as a child and raised in the wood of Evilshaw as servant to a witch Birdalone ultimately escapes in her captress's magical boat in which she travels to a succession of strange and wonderful islands. Among these is the Isle of Increase Unsought an island cursed with boundless production which Morris intended as a parallel of contemporary Britain and a vehicle for his socialistic beliefs. Equally radical during much of the first quarter of the novel Birdalone is naked a highly unusual detail in Victorian fiction. She is occasionally assisted out of jams by Habundia her lookalike fairy godmother. She encounters three maidens who are held prisoner by another witch. They await deliverance by their lovers the three paladins of the Castle of the Quest. Birdalone is clad by the maidens and seeks out their heroes and the story goes into high gear as they set out to rescue the women. Ultimately one lady is reunited with her knight another finds a new love when her knight is killed and the last is left to mourn as her champion throws her over for Birdalone.
