The Bevin Boy:

A Bevin Boy Remembers Ted Holloway,1993      Men in reserve Juliette Pattinson,Arthur McIvor,Linsey

Robb,2017-02-01 Men in reserve focuses on working class civilian men who as a result of working in reserved occupations were exempt from enlistment in the armed forces It uses fifty six newly conducted oral history interviews as well as autobiographies visual sources and existing archived interviews to explore how this group articulated their wartime experiences and how they positioned themselves in relation to the hegemonic discourse of military masculinity It considers the range of masculine identities circulating amongst civilian male workers during the war and investigates the extent to which reserved workers draw upon these identities when recalling their wartime selves It argues that the Second World War was capable of challenging civilian masculinities positioning the civilian man below that of the soldier hero while simultaneously reinforcing them by bolstering the capacity to provide and to earn high wages frequently in risky and dangerous work all which were key markers of masculinity      The Bevin Boy David Day,1995-01-01      Called Up, Sent Down

Tom Hickman,2016-08-04 At the outbreak of the Second World War the government short sightedly allowed thousands of miners to enlist in the armed services By 1943 the war effort was in danger of grinding to a halt because of a lack of coal In answer Ernest Bevin the Minister of Labour sought service volunteers and compulsorily sent 20 000 18 year olds who d expected to fight for their country down the mines with them Some were so angry that they preferred to go to prison The majority went to do their best But some were psychologically and others physically unsuited to such dangerous work Many were injured some died Called Up Send Down is an enthralling oral and social history of an episode of war that has never been fully told
