Field & Stream, 1997-01 FIELD STREAM America's largest outdoor sports magazine celebrates the outdoor experience with great stories compelling photography and sound advice while honoring the traditions hunters and fishermen have passed down for generations Skiing in the Catskill Region George V. Quinn, 2013-12-02 Arriving by train to Phoenicia New York in the mid 1930s downhill skiers first discovered the snowy trails of Simpson Ski Slope Soon after many Borscht Belt hotels were offering skiing and skating as ways to fill rooms during cold winter months when crowds thinned In the high central Catskills where abundant snowfall was a big draw many abandoned rooming houses were commandeered to serve as base lodges for fledgling ski areas In addition to farming and logging skiing became an important industry to the area People found steady employment in dozens of new areas sprouting all over the mountains Downhill skiing is just part of the region's history Ski jumping racing ski clubs fashion and colorful personalities were all part of the experience Making Mountains David Stradling, 2009-11-23 For over two hundred years the Catskill Mountains have been repeatedly and dramatically transformed by New York City In Making Mountains David Stradling shows the transformation of the Catskills landscape as a collaborative process one in which local and urban hands capital and ideas have come together to reshape the mountains and the communities therein This collaboration has had environmental economic and cultural consequences Early on the Catskills were an important source of natural resources Later when New York City needed to expand its water supply engineers helped direct the city toward the Catskills claiming that the mountains offered the purest and most cost effective waters By the 1960s New York had created the great reservoir and aqueduct system in the mountains that now supplies the city with 90 percent of its water The Catskills also served as a critical space in which the nation s ideas about nature evolved Stradling describes the great influence writers and artists had upon urban residents especially the painters of the Hudson River School whose ideal landscapes created expectations about how rural America should appear By the mid 1800s urban residents had turned the Catskills into an important vacation ground and by the late 1800s the Catskills had become one of the premiere resort regions in the nation In the mid twentieth century the older Catskill resort region was in steep decline but the Jewish Borscht Belt in the southern Catskills was thriving The automobile revitalized mountain tourism and residence and increased the threat of suburbanization of the historic landscape Throughout each of these significant incarnations urban and rural residents worked in a rough collaboration though not without conflict to reshape the mountains and American ideas about rural landscapes and nature
