Information and Knowledge Organisation in Digital Humanities Koraljka Golub, Ying-Hsang Liu, 2021-12-24 Information and Knowledge Organisation explores the role of knowledge organisation in the digital humanities. By focusing on how information is described, represented and organised in both research and practice, this work furthers the transdisciplinary nature of digital humanities. Including contributions from Asia, Australia, Europe, North America and the Middle East, the volume explores the potential uses of and challenges involved in applying the organisation of information and knowledge in the various areas of Digital Humanities. With a particular focus on the digital worlds of cultural heritage collections, the book also includes chapters that focus on machine learning, knowledge graphs, text analysis, text annotations and network analysis. Other topics covered include semantic technologies, conceptual schemas and data augmentation, digital scholarly editing, metadata creation, browsing, visualisation and relevance ranking. Most importantly, perhaps, the book provides a starting point for discussions about the impact of information and knowledge organisation and related tools on the methodologies used in the Digital Humanities field. Information and Knowledge Organisation is intended for use by researchers, students and professionals interested in the role information and knowledge organisation plays in the Digital Humanities. It will be essential reading for those working in library and information science, computer science and across the humanities. Named one of Ezra Klein's Books That Explain Where We Are in 2023. The New York Times Learned more about Jennifer Pahlka's work at recodeingamerica.us. The book I wish every policymaker would read. Ezra Klein. The New York Times. A bold call to reexamine how our government operates and sometimes fails to. From President Obama's former deputy chief technology officer and the founder of Code for America. Just when we most need our government to work to decarbonize our infrastructure and economy to help the vulnerable through a pandemic to defend ourselves against global threats, it is faltering. Government at all levels has limped into the digital age offering online services that can feel even more cumbersome than the paperwork that preceded them and widening the gap between the policy outcomes we intend and what we get. But it's not more money or more tech we need. Government is hamstrung by a rigid industrial era culture in which elites dictate policy from on high, disconnected from and too often disdainful of the details of implementation. Lofty goals morph unrecognizably as they cascade through a complex hierarchy. But there is an approach taking hold that keeps pace with today's world and reclaims government for the people it is supposed to serve. Jennifer Pahlka shows why we must stop trying to move the government we have today onto new technology and instead consider what it would mean to truly recode.
