The Changing Middle Eastern City G.H. Blake, R.I. Lawless, 2016-03-22 The Middle East defined here as extending from Morocco to Iran and Turkey to Sudan lies at the crossroads of three continents Africa Asia and Europe With the largest reserves of petroleum in the world its importance is well beyond its physical size and population Rapid urban growth has radically transformed Middle Eastern society in recent decades but the associated problems are incompletely understood This volume first published in 1980 highlights some of the major issues of Middle Eastern urbanisation and provides a comprehensive statement about the current position of research Urban origins and the nature of urban growth are discussed to provide a background to considerations of migration employment housing and retailing The contributors suggest that planning strategies have hitherto proved inadequate with small towns being largely overlooked historic quarters rapidly disappearing and water in short supply Future research into all these problem areas is considered essential but the research must be coordinated and utilised Concentrating on practical problems achievements and challenges for research the contributions in this book specially commissioned from active researchers in the field will prove a valuable guide to recent ideas and developments in the Middle East

Traditions, Changes, and Challenges: Military Operations and the Middle Eastern City, Middle Eastern Cities, 1900-1950 Hans Chr. Korsholm Nielsen, Jakob Skovgaard-Petersen, 2001

This volume elucidates the dramatic changes taking place in Middle Eastern cities during the first half of the 20th century During this period radical changes took place with the introduction of new public spheres and places and with these a new society emerged The focus of the contributions is on the development of these changes and how they were experienced and interpreted by the inhabitants of the cities and towns
