The Child His Illness And The Others:

The Child, His "illness", and the Others Maud Mannoni, 1987 A description and explanation of a neo lacanian child analysis Dr Mannoni a leading proponent of the theories of Jacques Lacan and a prominent child psychologist in her own right holds that the psychoanalysis of children is a process in which the analyst must understand two inter connected dialogues the dialogue taking place within the child and the dialogue between the child and his environment principally his family She considers that the child s surroundings consist first and foremost of the collective utterance in which he is caught up Thus a child s illness and recovery are determined by what the adults say or fail to say in his presence In short the child is as sick as the adults need him to be and the psychoanalyst must listen to them in order to understand In the light of her own experience Dr Mannoni reviews the historical development of the major schools of thought and where pertinent suggests amendments to existing theories particularly in the treatment of psychosis and with the aid of several case histories lucidly demonstrates the philosophical structure behind the exciting results of her own work
