Creative Women of the “Lost Generation” Kimberly Francis,Margot Irvine,2023-08-11 This book explores the creative women of the Lost Generation including painters sculptors film makers writers singers composers dancers and impresarios who all pursued artistic careers in the years leading up to during and following World War I These women s stories and the art they created commissioned mobilized as propaganda and performed shed light on the shifting nature of gender norms during this period With the combined knowledge and expertise from different contributors chapters in this book consider how modernist practices continued their development in women s hands during the war through networks forged by and for women artists in the absence of their male colleagues These chapters also reflect on how in many cases the dissolution of these structures after the November 1918 armistice had detrimental consequences for their professional trajectories This book challenges the place creative women currently hold in the historical record while also clarifying how these artists and impresarios contributed to wartime and post war culture This collection of essays will be of great value to scholars interested in social and gender history of the twentieth century as well as historians of the arts through offering nuanced understanding of the essential work of female creative professionals highlighting artistic women s experiences of resistance mourning and reinvention in the shadow of the Great War

Our War Too Margaret Paton-Walsh,2002 In the late 1930s a number of American women especially those allied with various peace and isolationist groups protested against the nation s entry into World War II While their story is fairly well known Margaret Paton Walsh reveals a far less familiar story of women who fervently felt that American intervention was absolutely necessary Paton Walsh recounts how the United States became involved in the war but does so through the eyes of American women who faced it as a necessary evil Covering the period between 1935 and 1941 she examines how these women functioned as political actors even though they were excluded from positions of power through activism in women s organizations informal women s networks and even male dominated lobbying groups In the Great

Debate over whether America should enter the war some women favored aid to the Allies not because they hoped for war but because they hoped aid would forestall more direct U S involvement but also because they believed war was preferable to a Nazi victory Paton Walsh shows that this activism involved some of the most prominent women of their day Elizabeth Cutter Morrow whose son in law Charles Lindbergh was an isolationist spokesman supported the revision of the Neutrality Acts to allow the sale of arms to the Allies and expressed her support in a national radio broadcast Soon other women joined this debate Esther Brunauer of the AAUW journalist Dorothy Thompson and organizations like the League of Women Voters and National Women s Trade Union League broke from the pacifist tradition to advocate American aid for the Allied cause Focusing on the conflict in Europe Paton Walsh shows how these women grasped the implications of the Lend Lease program for America s entry into the war but supported it nevertheless By late 1941 the Women s Division of the Fight for Freedom Committee had been established no longer merely advocating aid to Britain to keep American boys out of battle this organization supported direct American involvement in the war as a means of stopping Nazi oppression While most historians have focused on women s pacifism Paton Walsh connects women more directly to world events and shows how those interventionists reformulated maternalist ideas to justify and explain their beliefs Our War Too is a story of American women trying to reconcile the irreconcilable to preserve both their principles and their peace It expands our understanding of women as political actors and thinkers about foreign policy as it sheds new light on American public opinion over the build up to the war Noted Women of Europe and America ... James Parton,1883 Woman and Temperance Frances E.
