The Changing Life Of London:

The Changing Life of London George Gardiner,1973 The Changing Museum Clive Gray,2022-11-30 Using the example of New Walk Museum Leicester and its collections the complexity multi causality and reasons for change in museums are examined and explained The 170 years history of New Walk provides an original basis and innovative approach to be adopted towards explaining museum change The book makes use of original interview and archive material to examine how and why social economic political and professional developments affected the work that was undertaken in New Walk The time span covered is much longer than is normal for a book on museum history and is longer than for almost all the national museums in the UK with this allowing for a nuanced understanding of the causes and consequences of museum change over time The problems and possibilities of undertaking museum history research are also discussed Detailed examination of the ways in which a variety of societal developments fed into museum change is a key feature of the book The book is aimed at all those with an interest in understanding how and why change affects museum practice and will be of interest to museum professionals academics and students in museum studies history politics and sociology as well to the general museum visitor who would like to discover more about the institutions that they visit The Routledge

International Handbook on Narrative and Life History Ivor Goodson,Ari Antikainen,Pat Sikes,Molly Andrews,2016-10-04 In recent decades there has been a substantial turn towards narrative and life history study The embrace of narrative and life history work has accompanied the move to postmodernism and post structuralism across a wide range of disciplines sociological studies gender studies cultural studies social history literary theory and most recently psychology Written by leading international scholars from the main contributing perspectives and disciplines The Routledge International Handbook on Narrative and Life History seeks to capture the range and scope as well as the considerable complexity of the field of narrative study and life history work by situating these fields of study within the historical and contemporary context Topics covered include The historical emergences of life history and narrative study Techniques for conducting life history and narrative study Identity and politics Generational history Social and psycho social approaches to narrative history With chapters from expert contributors this volume will prove a comprehensive and authoritative resource to students researchers and educators interested in narrative theory analysis and interpretation Researching Education Through Actor-Network Theory Tara Fenwick,Richard Edwards,2012-03-06 Researching Education Through Actor Network Theory offers a new take on educational research demonstrating the ways in which actor network theory can expand the understanding of educational change An international collaboration exploring diverse manifestations of educational change Illustrates the impact of actor network theory on educational research Positions education as a key area where actor network theory can add value as it has been shown to do in other social sciences A valuable resource for anyone interested in the sociology and philosophy of education Families, Violence And Social Change McKie, Linda,2005-03-01 This comprehensive analysis on abuse committed in the home provides insights at both the micro and macro levels The book combines legal and social science approaches in a way that makes it essential reading for anyone studying or working on violence related issues Kev t Nousiainen University of Helsinki Johanna Niemi Kiesil inen University of Ume and Anu Pylkk nen University of Helsinki This excellent book offers a timely intervention into debates about violence Whilst most debates still focus on the spectacular rather than mundane forms of violence Linda McKie uses a synthesis of legal sociological and feminist research to show how current debates fail to deal with the violence that underpins our lives Prof Beverley Skeggs University of London An exciting new addition to the series this book tackles assumptions surrounding the family as a changing institution and supposed haven from the public sphere of life It considers families and social change in terms of concepts of power inequality gender generations sexuality and ethnicity Some commentators suggest the family is threatened by increasing economic and social uncertainties and an enhanced focus upon the individual This book provides a resume of these debates as well as a critical review of the theories of family and social change Charts social and economic changes and their impact on the family Considers the prevalence and nature of abuse within families Explores the relationship between social theory families and changing issues in familial relationships Develops a theory of social change and families through a critical and pragmatic stance Key reading for undergraduate students of sociology reading courses such as family gender health criminology and social change

Unfolding Lives Rachel Thomson, 2011-09 The process of becoming an adult in contemporary times is fragmented and unequal shaped by chance choice and timing Unfolding lives presents a unique approach to understanding the changing face of youth transitions addressing the question of how gender identities are constituted in late modern culture The book follows individual lives over time enabling the reader to witness gender identities in the making and breathing new life into static analytic models At the heart of the book are vivid in depth accounts of four young lives emblematic of broader biographical trends They reveal how inequalities and privileges are made in new and unexpected ways through practices such as falling in love coming out acting out and religious conversion A focus on temporal processes and changing meanings captures what it feels like to be young and shows the creative ways that young people navigate the conflicting and changing demands of personal relationships schooling work and play Unfolding lives is also a demonstration of a method in practice describing how longitudinal material can be analysed and animated to realise the relationship between personal and social change Written in an accessible style that breaks the conventional academic mould Unfolding lives is a compelling and provocative read The book will be an essential text for students and academics involved in youth and gender studies as well as those interested in new directions in qualitative research methods and writing

The Changing Consumer Cultures of Modern Egypt Mona Abaza, 2006-12-01 This book consists of a collage of images that attempts to convey the transformation of consumer culture and how it is related to the urban reshaping of the city of Cairo to meet with the demands of globalisation Analyzing the shift from socialist economy to the opening up of Egypt s economy and how this has affected everyday life of the middle classes the author touches on various themes such as the general changing lifestyles and conspicuous consumption the spread of mobile phones and coffee shops the gated communities and secondary resorts The folklorisation of culture through the flowering tourist industry the expansion of local crafts plastic surgery and the body as a site of consumption are all analysed Although being influenced by the discourse of the Frankfurt school on the culture industry this work attempts to highlight the paradoxes pertaining to the democratising effects of consumer culture without denying the growing flagrant class polarisation

Globalizing Education, Educating the Local Ian Stronach, 2009-12-16 Provides a critical account of how contemporary educational knowledge is put together and presented in the global knowledge economy redefining the actors in the education process including principally the child pupil and learner but also the teacher parent inspector and policy maker

Regulating Family Responsibilities Jo Bridgeman, 2016-04-08 This collection brings together some of the most eminent and exciting authors researching family responsibilities to examine understandings of the day to day responsibilities which people undertake within families and the role of the law in the construction of those understandings The authors explore a range of questions fundamental to our understanding of responsibility in family life To whom and to what ends are family members responsible Is responsibility primarily a matter of care Can we fulfil our family responsibilities by paying those to whom we owe responsibility Or by paying others to fulfil our caring obligations for us In each of these circumstances the chapters in this collection explore what it means to have family responsibilities what constitutes an adequate performance of such responsibilities and the point at which the state intervenes At the heart of this collection is an interest in the way in which the changing family affects people s perception and exercise their family responsibilities and how the law attempts to regulate and understand those responsibilities The essays range across intact and separated or fragmented families from lone and shared parenting in single homes to caring across households and even across international boundaries to reflect on the actual caring responsibilities of family members and on the fulfilment of financial responsibilities in families This collection seeks to advance our understanding of the attempts of the law and its limits in regulating the responsibilities which family members take for each other
