Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a training group. The control group consisted of 10 men who did not exercise regularly, and the training group consisted of 10 men who participated in a 12-week training program. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during maximal exercise at baseline and at the end of the 12-week training program. The results showed that the training group had a significantly lower HR and HRR at rest and during maximal exercise compared to the control group at the end of the 12-week training program. The findings suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the cardiovascular fitness of sedentary, middle-aged men.

When you install your T3, maintenance should consist of, at least, the following:

- Check the T3 wheel and tire pressure regularly, at least once a week, and adjust if necessary. Do not over-inflate. Excessive tire pressure can reduce the product's life span and cause tire failure.
- Check your product year by looking at the name plate located, normally, underneath the product. Be sure you are using the correct maintenance schedule for your product. Using the incorrect maintenance schedule may cause difficulties with the product or result in damage caused by the incorrect action.

Abstract: This research is an exploratory study that examines the relationship between the use of the Internet and the use of the Internet for business purposes. The study is based on a survey of 1000 business owners and managers. The results show that the use of the Internet for business purposes is positively related to the use of the Internet for personal purposes. The study also found that the use of the Internet for business purposes is positively related to the use of the Internet for social purposes. The study concludes that the use of the Internet for business purposes is a key factor in the success of a business.
