The Technological Response to Import Liberalization in SubSaharan Africa Sanjaya Lall, 1999-02-24 Many African countries liberalized in the belief that international competition would stimulate efficiency growth and technological dynamism The results are mixed but largely disappointing This book examines why looking at technological reactions to liberalization in garments and engineering in Tanzania Kenya and Zimbabwe countries with different levels of industrialisation and differing degrees of liberalization Its findings aimed at practitioners and researchers explain why the assumptions underlying liberalisation are often flawed why capabilities differ and why they lag behind other regions

Competitiveness and Development Mehdi Shafaeddin, 2012-09-15 In Competitiveness and Development the author explains the confusion surrounding the concept of competitiveness in the context of developing countries proposes policies for achieving competitiveness at a high level of development examines its possibilities and constraints and suggests policy changes necessary at the national and international levels Shafaeddin illustrates how developed countries impose restrictive policies on developing countries through international financial institutions and the WTO as well as regional and bilateral agreements which limit their policy space for promoting dynamic comparative advantage in order to achieve competitiveness at a high level of development Ultimately such policies lock developing countries that are at early stages of development in specialization based on static comparative advantage and competitiveness at a low level of development      In Pursuit of Science and Technology in Sub-Saharan Africa J. L. Enos, 2003-08-29 This is a study of the impact of the economic crisis and subsequent adjustment policies in the African economies on the scientific and technological capabilities in those countries It includes studies of Ghana Tanzania Kenya and Uganda      Public Management and Sustainable Development in Nigeria Robert Dibie, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2003 How was public policy and economic development in Nigeria affected under the period of military control between 1966 and 1999 What is the nature and scale of change that Nigeria will have to undergo in order to achieve its current development goals Initially providing a history of Nigeria along with a framework for understanding the nature scope and magnitude of the military and public management problems within the country this timely and rewarding book addresses both of these questions It analyzes the institutions that make and implement public policy in the Nigerian political arena and examines the route that Nigeria could take in order to enhance its public management capacities Although the specific focus is on Nigeria the mode of analysis used is transferable to a wide variety of developing nations The book will foster an understanding among scholars development planners military officers and policy makers of the tasks and challenges facing Nigeria and many sub Saharan African nations in the twenty first century

Learning from the Asian Tigers Sanjaya Lall, 1996-11-04 This is a collection of papers on industrial policy the role of governments in promoting industrial development and the particular significance of technology development Two essays deal with the general debate on industrial policy and the nature of technology development two are critical appraisals of the World Bank s approach to the debate on governments and markets four are case studies of policy making on aspects of industrialisation three in Asia and one in Africa      Emerging Issues in Contemporary African Economies S.

Onyeiwu, 2015-05-13 Onyeiwu focuses on how events of the twenty first century are shaping key sectors of African economies and societies He suggests that compared to East Asia and Latin America Africa still has a long way to go despite recent improvements in performance      Adjustment, Employment & Missing Institutions in Africa Willem van der Geest, Rolph van der Hoeven, 1999 This text identifies missing institutions as a major reason for the patchy implementation of structural reform policies in Africa The essays concentrate on Kenya Uganda Zambia Zimbabwe and Malawi where less than ten per cent of the labour force work in the formal sector as compared with some 20 to 40 per cent in the 1960s      Adjustment, Employment and Labour Market Institutions in Sub-Saharan Africa in the 1990s Willem van der Geest, Ganeshan Wignaraja, 1996      Studies on the Ghanaian Economy: The industrial sector A. Baah-Nuakoh, 1996      African

Development Report , 1998 The African Development Report 1998 provides a comprehensive and concise analysis of economic and social progress in Africa and examines development policy issues affecting economic prospects in the continent

Competing Through Innovation and Learning United Nations Industrial Development Organization, 2002 This report the first in a new series from the United Nations Industrial Development Organization UNIDO assesses the diversity and divergence of industrial development around the world It is intended to build on development policy experience with a focus on the least developed countries It introduces the concept of the Industrial Development Scoreboard which benchmarks the industrial performance of 87 countries based on selected indicators and chosen on the basis of data availability for inter country comparisons The report finds that building industrial capacity is a long and costly process of innovation and learning which many developing countries cannot accomplish without the technological aid of the international community to help address structural gaps      Appropriate Technology ,1996      International Bibliography of Book Reviews of Scholarly Literature Chiefly in the Fields of Arts and Humanities and the Social Sciences ,1999      Global Integration and Technology Transfer Bernard M. Hoekman, Beata Smarzynska Javorcik, 2006-05-12 For 10 years the trade research group at the World Bank has undertaken outstanding and innovative empirical studies of the processes under which technology transfer occurs and its impacts on local economies This volume brings together the fruits of this endeavour and offers a wealth of perspectives on this central issue for development      Social Investment, Productivity and Poverty Robert Cassen, Ganeshan Wignaraja, Geeta Kingdon, 1997      Discussion Paper ,1987
