Current Perspectives in microRNAs (miRNA) Shao-Yao Ying, 2008-09-12 Nearly 97% of the human genome is the non coding DNA which varies from one species to another and changes in these sequences are frequently noticed to manifest clinical and circumstantial malfunction Numerous non protein coding genes are recently found to encode microRNAs which are responsible for RNA mediated gene silencing through RNA interference RNAi like pathways MicroRNAs miRNAs small single stranded 17-25 nucleotide RNAs capable of interfering with intracellular messenger RNAs mRNAs that contain either complete or partial complementarity are useful for the design of new therapies against cancer polymorphism and viral mutation Currently over 1000 native miRNA species found in vertebrates and many more new miRNA homologs continue to be identified however most of their functions remain to be determined In this book many new perspectives of the miRNA research are reviewed and discussed including their roles in stem cell maintenance embryonic development tissue differentiation adult physiology disease pathology cancer research viral infection genetic engineering in plants and utility in cosmetic applications These new findings may not only provide significant insight into the various mechanisms of miRNAs but also offer a great opportunity in developing new therapeutic interventions New Essays on Call It Sleep Hana

Hall,Naomi E. Langmore,2017-09-11 Bird song traditionally regarded as primarily a male trait is in fact widespread among female songbirds and was probably present in the ancestor of modern songbirds Odom et al 2014 Nature Communications These recent findings challenge the view that sexual dimorphism in the expression and complexity of song is largely the outcome of sexual selection on males It is now clear that understanding the evolution of bird song requires explaining variation within and among species in the expression and complexity of female song To do this we need a better understanding of the nature of variation in female song in different contexts and systems as well as the fitness costs and benefits of variation in the expression and complexity of female song This Research Topic draws together current research on female song with the goal of understanding the fitness costs and benefits of the diversity of female singing behaviour apparent among songbirds It includes articles ranging from single species studies investigating how female song varies with context and contrasts with male song to comparative analyses exploring relationships between female song and ecological social and other factors as well as opinion pieces     Statistical Methods for Elucidating DNA Motifs and Modules Xiaoyue Zhao,2005     Design Motifs International Correspondence Schools,1916     The Shell Hacker's Guide to X and Motif Alan Southerton,1994-01-26 Written by a well known UNIXWorld editor this practical hands on guide shows UNIX users how to customize the X Window System environment at the window manager level It includes utilities for modifying menus colors and fonts mouse behavior customized windows and keyboards and more     The Journal of Decorative Art ,1899     Storytelling Magazine ,2003     Number Theory Sinnou David,1995 This is the fourteenth annual volume arising from the Séminaire de Théorie des Nombres de Paris As with previous volumes the whole spectrum of number theory is discussed with many contributions from some of the world's leading figures. The very latest research developments are covered and much of the work presented here will not be found elsewhere. Also included are surveys that will serve to guide the reader through the extensive published literature. This will be a necessary addition to the libraries of all workers in number theory.
