The Deep Approach Second Languages For Community Building:

The Deep Approach François Victor Tochon, Denise M. Hanson, 2003 Bilingualism is not merely a nice addition to curriculum but community enhancement the authors and contributors to this volume insist Tochon is a native of Switzerland which has three official languages and has taught extensively in Canada which has two official languages In these and other settings Tochon has experienced and researched the impact of bilingualism on schools and communities Hanson who is the TEACH Wisconsin Project Coordinator for Madison Metropolitan School District has also anecdotally experienced the individual and community benefits of bilingualism joins Tochon and others in a research project designed to study the language phenomenon that they themselves have observed and experienced In order to better understand the process involved Tochon explains the idea of deep approach Here are the principles underlying nonintrusive action which characterize what I call the deep approach to language teaching Second languages are taught with the contribution of bilingual communities typically those cultures and languages that are represented in the school Action is taken with the people involved these people participate voluntarily and freely The approach is thematic and bottom up It has an ecological dimension It is based upon projects One does not begin with the presupposition that any one environment is superior to any other What is at issue is the relationship between people concerned with education Participants are conducting reflective research on their own actions Explore with the authors the very real possibilities for developing a language learning program the benefits the students and the community

Studies in Expansive Learning Yrjö Engeström, 2016-08-04 Yrjö Engeström's exciting approach sees expansive learning as the central mechanism of transformation in societal practices and institutions For researchers and practitioners in education this book provides a conceptual and practical toolkit for creating and analyzing expansive learning processes with the help of interventions in workplaces schools and communities Chapters 1-3 situate the theory of expansive learning in the field of learning science Chapters 4-8 contain empirical studies of expansive learning in various organizational settings such as banks schools and hospitals In Chapters 9-10 the author looks at new challenges and possibilities arising from rapidly spreading wildfire activities disaster relief for example and from the methodology of formative interventions aimed at triggering and supporting expansive learning This book provides an integrative account of recent empirical studies and conceptual developments in the theory of expansive learning and serves as a companion volume to Learning by Expanding Bringing Community to the Adult ESL Classroom Clarena Larrotta, Ann K. Brooks, 2009-04-06 Using the concept of community building as a framework this volume summarizes and updates readers on the state of adult English as a second language ESL education in the United States It provides a complete description of this population of learners and their learning needs The various chapters discuss possibilities for community building in the adult ESL classroom combining research theory and practice Community building is not a new topic we often discuss it informally with our colleagues and students However scant written material exists with a focus on adult ESL documenting how it happens or reconciling theory with practitioners experiences In this volume several practitioners and researchers explain the ways in which they use community building principles in adult ESL settings The authors descriptions of applications of community building principles can help other adult educators implement these ideas in their teaching practice This is the 121st volume of the Jossey Bass quarterly report series New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education Noted for its depth of coverage New Directions for Adult and Continuing Education is an indispensable series that explores issues of common interest to instructors administrators counselors and policymakers in a broad range of adult and continuing education settings such as colleges and universities extension programs businesses libraries and museums Building Community, Building California, Building Colleges, Community College Reform California.
