achievement of Annibale Carracci 1560 1609 is his celebrated series of frescoes in the Palazzo Farnese in Rome 1596 1604 The unveiling of the Galleria Farnese s ceiling led to a growing stream of artistic commissions from Cardinal Farnese and other patrons all eager to secure works by the artist However the severe mental and physical breakdown that Annibale suffered in early 1605 made it impossible for him to undertake new projects and few works are known from the last years of his life other than some etchings and some remarkable and too often underrated drawings This publication aims to take a fresh look at these late drawings of one of Italy s foremost draftsmen highlighting some well known works as well as other less familiar sheets from the Morgan and elsewhere and the Art of Drawing Babette Bohn,2004 The primary goal of Ludovico Carracci and the Art of Drawing is to provide a ground breaking model for a new kind of book on Italian drawings In addition to covering the traditional scholarly terrain of chronology style and connoisseurship this book utilizes up to date art historical methods including considerations of the historical context of Bologna its impact on Ludovico s art and a new portrayal of the role of women and women artists in the city Bologna is perhaps the last great artistic capital in Europe that still offers the specialist the possibility for ground breaking studies This quotation from a recent exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum testifies to the rich possibilities for research in this field In 1983 Sydney Freedberg wrote a book on the three pivotal innovators in Italian painting at the turn of the seventeenth century Caravaggio Annibale Carracci and the latter s cousin Ludovico Carracci 1555 1619 The dramatic intensity of Ludovico s paintings exerted a seminal influence on the direction of Italian Baroque painting His highly individual renditions of his subjects make him one of the great interpreters of Italian art Working in Bologna the second city of the papal states during the period of the Counter Reformation Ludovico was well positioned to reshape religious painting during a period that demanded change Ludovico was a prolific draftsman who produced over 300 extant drawings His drawings offer the key to his artistic personality because he conceived his original subjects and planned his dramatic compositions in these sheets Like most Italian artists of the early modern period Ludovico developed his ideas in drawings and began painting only after his conceptions had been finalized Thus his drawings reveal how he thought how his ideas changed and which features of a composition were most important or challenging to his creative imagination Such drawings as these have tremendous appeal to modern audiences who are attracted by the excitement of watching the creative process in progress rather than seeing only the painting that represents the end of that process The Carracci have always been considered some of the most important draftsmen in Italian art for their revival of drawing the human figure from life in the course of designing paintings But Ludovico's drawings were not only preparatory studies for pictures He was also an innovator in developing finished compositional drawings that were produced as works of art in their own right made for sale to a new audience of private collectors in Bologna This book will be indispensable for university libraries museum libraries and the private libraries of all scholars dealers and collectors with a serious interest in Italian art As a study of a major artist that breaks new methodological ground the book will bring together fresh insights on the artist and his culture with a useful compendium of illustrations and will provide a model for future studies of draftsmen from the early modern period

The focus of this thesis will be to analyze the creation function and meaning of six portrait drawings made by the Bolognese artist Annibale Carracci 1560-1609 These six drawings are generally dated by art historians to Annibale's Bolognese period when he was directly involved with the philosophy and practice of the Carracci Academy prior to his move to Rome The Carracci Academy founded around 1580 by the brothers Annibale and Agostino along with their elder cousin Ludovico was based on the fundamental importance and attentive study of nature The three Carracci were devoted to life studies and encouraged this concept in their philosophy and practice Sheets of drawings with various figure studies attest to their devotion to nature and diligent study of the human body It is not the purpose of this study to assign new attributions or dates to Annibale's oeuvre There are disagreements in drawing scholarship regarding authorship the works presented in this thesis are some of the least controversial drawings These six drawings were selected for their pertinence to this thesis they all depict young boys or adolescent males they are psychologically gripping and they exemplify the high finish and technological skill that characterizes Annibale's life studies In addition all six drawings date to Annibale's Bolognese period are in good condition and are in relatively accessible collections The production of drawings as a preparatory procedure relating to a painting or the creation of a presentation drawing to be shown to a patron was a common practice by many artists in early modern Italy Annibale's portrait drawings however are intriguing in that they do not often directly correspond to a painting and that they primarily represent the heads of men adolescent male youths and boys Malvasia states that the three Carracci studied and drew both males and females from life but most of Annibale's portrait drawings are of males Early modern Italy is      Two Newly Identified Drawings by Annibale Carracci for the Herrera Chapel ,1984      Descriptive catalogue of the drawings by the old masters, forming the collection of John Malcolm

The collection of drawings at the Getty Museum was started in 1981 with the purchase of Rembrandt's Nude Woman with a Snake and has steadily expanded since then so that now at the turn of the new millennium it stands at more than six hundred drawings and is sheet for sheet one of the best anywhere. The Getty goal is to create from the finest examples a collection of the different Western European schools of drawing before 1900 with special emphasis on the work of the most important and accomplished draftsmen. The collection now contains superb examples of the work of Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael, Michelangelo, Durer, Rembrandt, Claude, Lorraine, Watteau, Gainsborough, David, Millet, Manet, Van Gogh, and Degas. This is the fourth in the series of catalogues describing the drawings in the Getty Museum. Most of the drawings discussed in the present volume were chosen for the collection in the period of 1994 to 1998 and include examples from the Italian, German, Dutch, and Flemish, French, Spanish, and British schools. Also included are several gifts from private collectors which mark the start of a tradition that it is hoped will continue in the future. The catalogue entries for these new acquisitions are organized first by national school and then by artist. The book also includes a bibliography and indexes of artists, former owners, related drawings, prints, and works in other media.     The Carracci Hatton Gallery, King's College (University of Durham).
