Ludlow,Raymond D. Kent,Lincoln C. Gray,2018-03 Measuring Voice

Speech and Swallowing in the Clinic and Laboratory provides a definitive reference and text for methods of measurement of voice speech and swallowing functioning and disorders. It was developed for measurement courses in speech language pathology graduate and doctoral programs and is also an essential reference for practitioners or anyone who needs to make quantitative assessments of the systems involved. The goal of this text is to provide basic information on the instruments and measures commonly used for assessing and treating persons with disorders of voice speech and swallowing for clinical practice research studies and conducting clinical trials. New developments in electrical and magnetic stimulation for noninvasive stimulation of nerves, muscles and the brain are provided for augmenting treatment benefits for persons with voice speech and swallowing disorders. Other new techniques included are electromyography, articulography, transcranial magnetic stimulation, functional MRI, fNIRS, DTI and transcranial direct current stimulation for treatment applications. The text includes methods for recording and analyzing speech acoustics, imaging and kinematics of vocal tract motion, air pressure, airflow, respiration, clinical evaluation of voice and swallowing disorders and functional and structural neuroimaging. Many of the methods are applicable for use in clinical practice and clinical research. Key Features: More than 250 full color images, Summary tables to guide selection of instruments and measures for various applications, Each chapter begins and ends with an overview and conclusion for review of content, Appendices of measurement standards, Clinical investigators and clinicians wanting to measure voice speech and swallowing functions for clinical documentation will benefit from this book as will students and professors. Measuring Voice, Speech and Swallowing in the Clinic and Laboratory pulls together the necessary information on methods of measurement from different disciplines and sources into one convenient resource. Information on measurement in the fields of voice, speech and swallowing is now readily available for training doctoral students and guidance of clinicians incorporating instrumental assessment into their practice.

Learn the technology behind hearing aids, Siri and Echo. Audio source separation and speech enhancement aim to extract one or more source signals of interest from an audio recording involving several sound sources. These technologies are among the most studied in audio signal processing today and bear a critical role in the success of hearing aids, hands free phones, voice command and other noise robust audio analysis systems and music post production software. Research on this topic has followed three convergent paths starting with sensor array processing, computational auditory scene analysis and machine learning based approaches such as independent component analysis respectively. This book is the first one to provide a comprehensive overview by presenting the common foundations and the differences between these techniques in a unified setting. Key features: Consolidated perspective on audio source separation and speech enhancement. Both historical perspective and latest advances in the field e.g. deep neural networks, Diverse disciplines, array processing, machine learning and statistical signal processing Covers the most important techniques for both single channel and multichannel processing This book provides both introductory and advanced material suitable for people with basic knowledge of signal processing and machine learning Thanks to its comprehensiveness it will help students select a promising research track researchers leverage the acquired cross domain knowledge to design improved techniques and engineers and developers choose the right technology for their target application scenario It will also be useful for practitioners from other fields e g acoustics multimedia phonetics and musicology willing to exploit audio source separation or speech enhancement as pre processing tools for their own needs
