Gabriella Bianchi, Hein Rune Skjoldal

The Norwegian Sea Ecosystem:

The Norwegian Sea Ecosystem Hein Rune Skjoldal, 2004 The Norwegian Sea Ecosystem elucidates the interaction between the different ecological compartments of the area with special emphasis on the most important pelagic fish stocks. It deals with mechanisms for ecosystem variability and discusses the challenge of an ecosystem approach to managing the area.

The Norwegian Sea Floor Lene Buhl-Mortensen, Hanne Hodnesdal, Terje Thorsnes, 2015      The Ecosystem Approach to Fisheries Gabriella Bianchi, Hein Rune Skjoldal, 2008 Sustainable use of aquatic ecosystems is high on regional, national and international agendas and central to the implementation of international agreements on biological diversity, responsible fisheries and fish stock management. Since 2001, when political commitments were made to implement the ecosystem approach, countries have begun to incorporate ecosystem considerations into their fisheries management and have met with varied success. The Ecosystem Approach to Fisheries covers both theoretical and applied aspects of sustainable management with a particular emphasis on reviewing concepts and addressing implementation issues in the form of case studies from around the world. Personal experiences are considered from diverse backgrounds and discuss the constraints encountered, strategies identified and best practices to facilitate further implementation. BOOK JACKET      Using Ecological Models to Support and Shape Environmental Policy Decisions Chiara Piroddi, Diego Macias, Marilaure Gregoire, Johanna Jacomina Heymans, Howard Townsend, 2022-02-10      Ecosystem Modelling of the Norwegian Sea Helen S. Ecosystem Barents Sea Egil Sakshaug, Kit M. Kovacs, 2009 This book describes the marine ecosystem of the Barents Sea located north of Norway and Russia as part of the Arctic Ocean. Basic knowledge is presented about components of the ecosystem from virus and bacteria via plankton and fish to seabirds through to marine mammals and their interactions with the physical environment. Ecosystem dynamics are given a prominent role in the book. Mathematical models of the plankton and important fish stocks are employed to help elucidate the interplay between populations and trophic levels. The situation regarding contaminants is reviewed as is the newly established Norwegian plan for the management of the Barents Sea. The impact of global warming is also discussed. Ecosystem Barents Sea is written for all those with an interest in marine ecology in the Arctic seas including research institutes, governmental ecosystem management units and natural resources organizations.      Physical Drivers of Biogeographical Shifts in the Northeastern Atlantic - and Adjacent Shelves Hjálmar Hátún, Oeystein Skagseth, Teresa Sofia Giesta da Silva, 2022-11-28

The Norwegian Coastal Current

,2007 The Norwegian coastal current originates primarily from the freshwater outflow from the Baltic and the freshwater runoff from Norway It flows northwards along the coast of Norway as a low salinity current This coastal region is the spawning ground for a number of important oceanic fish stocks and the physical environment has an impact on the recruitment growth and geographical distribution of these stocks In the late 1920s and early 1930s the Institute of Marine Research in Norway established a coastal oceanographic observation system This continued to evolve and its core elements are still in operation Drawing on the results generated by this observation system as well as by other coastal studies this book reviews the current understanding of the physical chemical conditions in the Norwegian coastal current in such a way as to make the material more easily accessible to non specialists A series of chapters introduces readers to the geography currents water masses and the temporal and spatial variability of the Norwegian coastal current Interannual fluctuations in physical conditions are most likely to be the prime cause of ecosystem variability The editor hopes that this book will act as a point of departure for a future summary of the ecology of Norwegian coastal waters Ecosystem Approaches to the Management of Ocean-related Activities United Nations,2011 Healthy ecosystems provide invaluable functions and services that are essential to the marine environment and to human well being Unfortunately some human activities have had an adverse impact on the structure and functioning of marine ecosystems A multitude of stressors such as pollution overfishing coastal development invasive alien species and climate change have impaired the ability of these ecosystems to provide essential goods and services This training manual focuses on the development and implementation of an ecosystem approach to the management of human activities and their impacts on the marine environment An ecosystem approach is essentially an evolution of integrated coastal and ocean management with a greater emphasis on ecosystem goals and objectives and their outcomes Report on the Young Scientists Conference on Marine Ecosystem Perspectives, Gilleleje, Denmark, 20-24 November 1999 ,2000 Global Ocean Ecosystem Dynamics (GLOBEC) ,1999 Baltic Sea Environment Proceedings ,1996 The Barents Sea Tore Jakobsen,V. K. Ozhigin,2011 The joint management of Norway and Russia in the Barents Sea has been successful in conserving the living marine resources and is a major factor contributing to the present rich fisheries in the area The basis for this conservation success is scientific research which to a large extent has been conducted through a long lasting co operation between Russian and Norwegian scientists that has expanded greatly over the past half century Based on joint Russian Norwegian authorships this monumental book celebrates the scientific co operation by reflecting on the historical development and the scientific methods applied and by offering a comprehensive presentation of the vast knowledge of the Barents Sea resources and ecosystem obtained through these co operative efforts Ecosystem Studies of Sub-Arctic Seas (ESSAS). ,2005 Provides background information for the Ecosystem Studies of Sub Arctic Seas program Discusses climate of the North Atlantic and North Pacific regions and discusses the physical oceanography and ecosystem properties of the Barents Sea Iceland and Greenland waters Newfoundland and Labrador shelf Sea of Okhotsk
