Sympathy Science:

Community series: Expanding the science of compassion, volume II Myriam Mongrain, Dacher Keltner, James Kirby, 2024-01-18 Gilbert Austin's "Chironomia" Revisited Sara Newman, Sigrid Streit, 2020-03-06 This first book length study of Irish educator clergyman and author Gilbert Austin as an elocutionary rhetor investigates how his work informs contemporary scholarship on delivery rhetorical history and theory and embodied communication Authors Sara Newman and Sigrid Streit study Austin's theoretical system outlined in his 1806 book Chironomia or A Treatise on Rhetorical Delivery an innovative study of gestures as a viable independent language and consider how Austin's efforts to incorporate movement and integrate texts and images intersect with present day interdisciplinary studies of embodiment Austin did not simply categorize gesture mechanically separating delivery from rhetoric and the discipline's overall goals but instead he provided a theoretical framework of written descriptions and illustrations that positions delivery as central to effective rhetoric and civic interactions Balancing the variable physical elements of human interactions as well as the demands of communication Austin's system fortuitously anticipated contemporary inquiries into embodied and nonverbal communication Enlightenment rhetoricians scientists and physicians relied on sympathy and its attendant vivacious and lively ideas to convey feelings and facts to their varied audiences During the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries as these disciplines formed increasingly distinct specialized boundaries they repurposed existing shared communication conventions to new ends While the emerging standards necessarily diverged each was grounded in the subjective embodied bedrock of the sympathetic magical tradition
