The Golden Door International Migration Mexico And The United States:

The Golden Door Paul R. Ehrlich, Loy Bilderback, 1981 Our most potentially disastrous national problem along with the danger of nuclear war and threats to the environment is the pressing catastrophe of massive illegal immigration The 2 000 mile United States Mexican border is the only place in the world where a wealthy heavily industrialized stable country is confronted directly by a struggling preindustrial nation United States prosperity relies on a stable population and Mexico with her burgeoning population increasing poverty and massive unemployment is threatening the traditional U S life style Stereotyped thinking based on racism or fear will not solve these problems The Golden Door is a sensitive exploration of a difficult situation and this edition includes new material on the Cuban Salvadoran and Haitian migration to the United States P 4 of cover Migration, Regional Integration and Human Security Harald Kleinschmidt, 2017-03-02 This original and timely book is the first to analyze the interconnectedness of migration regional integration and the new security studies Exploring the conflict between the actions of transnational migrants and state government policy in a series of theoretical chapters and regional case studies the book includes theoretical chapters which look at three key facets of the nation state population territory and government discussing the ways in which migration regional integration and new security thinking challenge the accepted role and responsibilities of the state Regional case studies are also included which explore the specific challenges faced in regions including Central America Asia and the Pacific and Central and Eastern Europe As a book that asks crucial questions about the formulation of migration policies and the consequences of that success or failure it will be essential reading for students and scholars of migration in sociology politics and international relations and also for those with professional interests in the area Forces and Potential for a European Identity Mauro Cappelletti, Monica Seccombe, Joseph H.
