The Golden Mean James S. Hans,1994-01-01 The Golden Mean argues that our current dilemmas both inside and outside the university should prompt us to see more clearly how the aesthetic and the ethical are intrinsically related We need to reassess their relationship to the future of our ways of thinking and the development of our communities The Site of Our Lives James S. Hans,1995-01-01 This book addresses the question of human uniqueness at a time when academic discourse has all but abandoned its long held commitment to the value of individuality Through an appraisal of the works of Emerson Nietzsche Heidegger Derrida and Foucault the author establishes the ways in which the current critique of the self has grossly distorted the nature of the debate by reducing it to a simple choice between essential or constructed selves Hans argues that the tradition that emerges from Emerson s work is based on a relational sense of the individual as much as it is devoted to the premise that we all have a specific form of integrity Likewise even though Nietzsche s critique of the fictional nature of the subject is the origin of contemporary visions of the fabricated self Nietzsche is equally insistent that each of us is a productive uniqueness we are all principles of selection whose links to the world embrace more than the social circumstances around us Nietzsche s vision of our productive uniqueness is carried on in larger and smaller ways by Heidegger Derrida and Foucault each of whom entertains a far more complex vision of the individual than those which currently dominate our ways of talking about what it means to be human Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001
