Systematic Instruction:

Systematic Instruction W. James Popham, Eva L. Baker, 1970 Systematic Instruction of Functional Skills for Students and Adults with Disabilities Keith Storey, 2022-03-01 This book provides an overview of systematic instructional strategies and is written in a format so that teachers and other service providers can immediately put the information to use. It specifically focuses upon systematic instruction for individuals with disabilities school age and adults and is generic across age groups as well as disability labels. The book focuses on improving instructional practices for students and adults with disabilities. Practitioners may understand the importance of placing individuals in different settings e.g. inclusive classrooms, supported employment sites but not understand how to improve their skills once they are in that setting. This book is intended to give teachers and other service providers the instructional skills for improving the skills of the individuals that they are serving. The most unique feature of the text is that it is written specifically for practitioners in the field teachers and adult service providers as well as those in training rather than being written for other academics. An advantage of this book is that those preparing teachers and others can easily use it in methods courses as it covers instructional methodology that is seldom covered in detail in most texts. College instructors will find the book a good choice for their classes based upon the consistent format throughout the book, the readability of the book for students, the comprehensive coverage of systematic instruction and the direct applicability to applied settings. Others providing instruction, supervision and training to direct service providers will find this book useful such as those working in schools as well as those in transition and adult service settings.

Chapters cover team building, implementation science, evidence-based instruction, problem solving, assessment and more. The book's utility is enhanced by a chapter-length case study, reproducible downloadable tools and boxed reflections and how-to recommendations from experienced implementers. New to This Edition: Increased focus on integrating academic and behavioral supports into one seamless system across tiers for students from diverse backgrounds. Chapter on improving student engagement and attendance. Chapter on the role of online learning within an iMTSS. Chapters on catch-up growth and Tier 2 supplemental instruction.

Intensifying Classroom Routines in Reading and Writing Programs Michael P. Ford, 2017 Three common routines are seen in almost every primary language arts program: morning messages, shared readings and word walls. These routines should be integrated to support the total language arts program but are teachers of grades K-2 getting the most bang for their buck out of these activities. Morning messages can become very routinized and repeat the same experiences over and over again. Shared readings are sometimes conducted with little variation in spite of changing demands from the texts being used and changing needs in the learners with whom they are being used Word walls might be put up with some attention early in the year and remain virtually unchanged as the year moves forward Intensifying Classroom Routines in Reading and Writing Programs focuses on how teachers can get more instructional mileage out of these three common classroom routines Author Michael P Ford lays out step by step day by day plans to put those three key routines on a cycle that changes as students move through developmental phases This resource helps teachers plan for emergent and early readers and writers It also looks at how teachers can assist students as they move through critical areas including concepts of print alphabetic knowledge phonological awareness sound symbol relationships high frequency words structural analysis context clues comprehension strategies and composition strategies With these intensified routines in place students will clearly see connections between reading and writing
