The Tree of Mythology, Its Growth and Fruitage Charles De Berard Mills, 1889

Plants, Health and Healing Elisabeth Hsu, Stephen Harris, 2010 Plants have cultural histories and their culturally known applications change through time and across contexts This pattern is seen in all types of uses that humans make of plants from trees used for construction through species used for perfume through to food plants However it is medicinal plants that have attracted considerable attention recently whether as a justification of plant conservation efforts or through the perception that direct use of medicinal plants may offer something that is not delivered by orthodox medicine This volume's two central aims are to demonstrate that plant knowledge is not paradigmatic positive knowledge but situational and arises in relationships and to show that modern medicinal plant discovery can be viewed as the epitome of a long history of borrowing stealing and exchanging plants
